Atlantic Europe In The First Millenium Bc Crossing The Divide:

Atlantic Europe in the First Millennium BC Thomas Hugh Moore,Xosé-Lois Armada,2015 Atlantic Europe in the First Millennium BC Thomas Hugh Moore,Xosê-Lois Armada,2011 This volume of 33 papers on the Atlantic region of Western Europe in the first millennium BC reflects a diverse range of theoretical approaches techniques and methodologies across current research and is an opportunity to compare approaches to the first millennium BC from different national and theoretical perspectives The Oxford Handbook of the European Iron Age Colin Haselgrove,Katharina Rebay-Salisbury,Peter S. Wells,2023-09-22 The Oxford Handbook of the European Iron Age presents a broad overview of current understanding of the archaeology of Europe from 1000 BC through to the early historic periods exploiting the large quantities of new evidence yielded by the upsurge in archaeological research and excavation on this period over the last thirty years Three introductory chapters situate the reader in the times and the environments of Iron Age Europe Fourteen regional chapters provide accessible syntheses of developments in different parts of the continent from Ireland and Spain in the west to the borders with Asia in the east from Scandinavia in the north to the Mediterranean shores in the south Twenty six thematic chapters examine different aspects of Iron Age archaeology in greater depth from lifeways economy and complexity to identity ritual and expression Among the many topics explored are agricultural systems settlements landscape monuments iron smelting and forging production of textiles politics demography gender migration funerary practices social and religious rituals coinage and literacy and art and design Continental Connections Hugo Anderson-Whymark,Duncan Garrow,Fraser Sturt,2015-02-26 The prehistories of Britain and Ireland are inescapably entwined with continental European narratives The central aim here is to explore cross channel relationships throughout later prehistory investigating the archaeological links material social cultural between the areas we now call Britain and Ireland and continental Europe from the Mesolithic through to the end of the Iron Age Since the separation from the European mainland of Ireland c 16 000 BC and Britain c 6000 BC their island nature has been seen as central to many aspects of life within them helping to define their senses of identity and forming a crucial part of their neighbourly relationship with continental Europe and with each other However it is important to remember that the surrounding seaways have often served to connect as well as to separate these islands from the continent In approaching the subject of continental connections in the long term and by bringing a variety of different archaeological perspectives associated with different periods to bear on it this volume provides a new a new synthesis of the ebbs and flows of the cross channel relationship over the course of 15 000 years of later prehistory enabling fresh understandings and new insights to emerge about the intimately linked trajectories of change in both regions The Human Factor Alejandro Sinner,Cèsar Carreras,Pieter Houten,2024-05-10 The Human Factor establishes a foundation for the study of ancient demography in the Iberian Peninsula focusing on its largest province Hispania Citerior Tarraconensis The authors take a multidisciplinary approach compiling archaeological epigraphic architectonic osteological and genetic datasets This comprehensive and detailed study of a single province is necessary to generate accurate demographic estimates and to compare it with datasets from other regions and historical periods By examining the province of Hispania Citerior Tarraconensis in depth the authors provide a detailed understanding of demographic patterns urbanism and urbanization rates over time and link them with the social cultural and economic factors that affected the Iberian Peninsula and the Western Mediterranean from the fourth century BC until the end of the Roman period For instance population size was a significant indicator of economic growth and performance and the distribution of people between urban and rural areas played a vital role in the negotiation of collective identities Additionally human mobility promoted cultural change and mediated information and technological flows This is the first comprehensive state of the art demographic analysis of the Iberian Peninsula from the Iron Age down to the end of the Roman period and the authors integration and interpretation of data provide cutting edge research and methodology and fill a gap in the scholarly literature allowing for a more nuanced understanding of the ancient Mediterranean

The Oxford Handbook of the History of Archaeology Margarita Díaz-Andreu, Laura Coltofean, 2024 The Oxford Handbook of the History of Archaeology offers comprehensive perspectives on the origins and developments of the discipline of archaeology and the direction of future advances in the field Written by thirty six archaeologists and historians from all over the world it covers a wide range of themes and debates including biographical accounts of key figures scientific techniques and archaeological fieldwork practices institutional contexts and the effects of religion nationalism and colonialism on the development of archaeology

Stockhammer, Rachel Cartwright, 2022-12-22 Rethinking Migrations in Late Prehistoric Eurasia rethinks the role of migrations in late prehistoric Eurasia integrating cutting edge scientific analyses with theoretical perspectives that highlight the complexity of past population movements

Metalworkers and their Tools: Symbolism, Function, and Technology in the Bronze and Iron Ages Linda Boutoille, Rebecca Peake, 2023-11-30 12 papers by 22 authors from the Metools symposium Queens University Belfast 2016 aim to shine a spotlight on the tools of the metalworker and to follow their evolution from the beginning of the Bronze Age through to the Iron Age as well as the place held by metalworking and its artisans in the economic and social landscape of the period

Beyond Boundaries Susan E. Alcock, Mariana Egri, James F. D. Frakes, 2016-05-01 The Roman Empire had a rich and multifaceted visual culture which was often variegated due to the sprawling geography of its provinces In this remarkable work of scholarship a group of international scholars has come together to find alternative ways to discuss the nature and development of the art and archaeology of the Roman provinces The result is a collection of nineteen compelling essays accompanied by carefully curated visual documentation seven detailed maps and an extensive bibliography organized around the four major themes of provincial contexts tradition and innovation networks and movements and local accents in an imperial context Easy assumptions about provincial dependence on metropolitan models give way to more complicated stories Similarities and divergences in local and regional responses to Rome appear but not always in predictable places and in far from predictable patterns The authors dismiss entrenched barriers between art and archaeology center and provinces even good art and bad art extending their observations well beyond the empire's boundaries and examining phenomena sites and monuments not often found in books about Roman art history or archaeology The book thus functions to encourage continued critical engagement with how scholars study the material past of the Roman Empire and indeed of imperial systems in general

The Routledge Handbook of Archaeology and Globalization Tamar Hodos, 2016-11-18 This unique collection applies globalization concepts to the discipline of archaeology using a wide range of global case studies from a group of international specialists The volume spans from as early as 10 000 cal BP to the modern era analysing the relationship between material culture complex connectivities between communities and groups and cultural change Each contributor considers globalization ideas explicitly to explore the socio cultural connectivities of the past In considering social practices shared between different historic groups and also the expression of their respective identities the papers in this volume illustrate the potential of globalization thinking to bridge the local and global in material culture analysis The Routledge Handbook of Archaeology and Globalization is the first such volume to take a world archaeology approach on a multi period basis in order to bring together the scope of evidence for the significance of material culture in the processes of globalization This work thus also provides a means to understand how material culture can be used to assess the impact of global engagement in our contemporary world As such it will appeal to archaeologists and historians as well as social science researchers interested in the origins of globalization

Perspectives on Public Policy in Societal-Environmental Crises Adam Izdebski, John Haldon, Piotr Filipkowski, 2022-07-14 This is an open access book Histories we tell never emerge in a vacuum and history as an academic discipline that studies the past is highly sensitive to the concerns of the present and the heated debates that can divide entire societies But does the study of the past also have something to teach us about the future Can history help us in coping with the planetary crisis we are now facing By analyzing historical societies as complex adaptive systems we contribute to contemporary thinking about societal environmental interactions in policy and planning and consider how environmental and climatic changes whether sudden high impact events or more subtle gradual changes impacted human responses in the past We ask how societal perceptions of such changes affect behavioral patterns and explanatory rationalities in premodernity and whether a better historical understanding of these relationships can inform our response to contemporary problems of similar nature and magnitude such as adapting to climate change

Death and Burial in Iron Age Britain Dennis William Harding, 2016 In this volume Harding examines the deposition of Iron Age human and animal remains in Britain and challenges the assumption that there should have been any regular form of cemetery in prehistory arguing that the dead were more commonly integrated into settlements of the living than segregated into dedicated cemeteries

Current Approaches to Tells in the Prehistoric Old World Antonio Blanco-González, Tobias L. Kienlin, 2020-11-30 Deeply stratified settlements are a distinctive site type featuring prominently in diverse later prehistoric landscapes of the Old World Their massive materiality has attracted the curiosity of lay people and archaeologists alike Nowadays a wide variety of archaeological projects are tracking the lifestyles and social practices that led to the building up of such superimposed artificial hills However prehistoric tell dwelling communities are too often approached from narrow local perspectives or discussed within strict time and culture specific debates There is a great potential to learn from such ubiquitous archaeological manifestations as the physical outcome of cross cutting dynamics and comparable underlying forces irrespective of time and space This volume tackles tells and tell like sites as a transversal phenomenon whose commonalities and divergences are poorly understood yet may benefit from cross cultural comparison Thus the book intends to assemble a representative range of ongoing theory and science based fieldwork projects targeting this kind of sites With the aim of encompassing a variety of social and material dynamics the volume's scope is diachronic from the Earliest Neolithic up to the Iron Age and covers a very large region from Iberia in Western Europe to Syria in the Middle East The core of the volume comprises a selection of the most remarkable contributions to the session with a similar title celebrated in the European Association of Archaeologists Annual Meeting held at Barcelona in 2018 In addition the book includes invited chapters to round out underrepresented areas and periods in the EAA session with relevant research programmes in the Old World To accomplish such a cross cultural course the book takes a case based approach with contributions disparate both in their theoretical foundations from household archaeology social agency and formation theory and their research strategies including geophysical survey microarchaeology and high resolution excavation and dating

Materialising Roman Histories Astrid Van Oyen, Martin Pitts, 2017-09-30 The Roman period witnessed massive changes in the human material environment from monumentalised cityscapes to standardised low value artefacts like pottery This book explores new perspectives to understand this Roman object boom and its impact on Roman history In particular the book's international contributors question the traditional dominance of representation in Roman archaeology whereby objects have come to stand for social phenomena such as status facets of group identity or notions like Romanisation and economic growth Drawing upon the recent material turn in anthropology and related disciplines the essays in this volume examine what it means to materialise Roman history focusing on the question of what objects do in history rather than what they represent In challenging the dominance of representation and exploring themes such as the impact of standardisation and the role of material agency Materialising Roman History is essential reading for anyone studying material culture from the Roman world and beyond

Historical Ecology Guillaume Decocq, 2022-09-08 This book addresses present day landscapes ecosystem functioning and biodiversity as legacies of the past It implements an interdisciplinary approach to understand how natural or human impacted ecological systems have changed over time Historical Ecology combines theory methods regional case studies and syntheses to provide a complete up to date overview of historical ecology Beginning with the crucial role of time and inference from observed patterns the book critically reviews the main methodological approaches including monitoring of permanent plots analysis of old maps repeat photography remote sensing soil analysis charcoal analysis botanical indicators and combinations of these methods applied to forest ecosystems A series of case studies from various biomes shows how historical ecology can help in understanding today s socio ecosystems such as mainland and island forests orchards tundra and coastal dunes The book concludes by showing how historical ecology can answer timely fundamental research questions and provide science based evidence for landscape and ecosystem management

Eurasia at the Dawn of History Manuel Fernández-Götz, Dirk Krausse, 2017-01-16 Our current world is characterized by life in cities the existence of social inequalities and increasing individualization When and how did these phenomena arise What was the social and economic background for the development of hierarchies and the first cities The authors of this volume analyze the processes of centralization cultural interaction and social differentiation that led to the development of the first urban centres and early state formations of ancient Eurasia from the Atlantic coasts to China The chronological framework spans a period from the Neolithic to the Late Iron Age with a special focus on the early first millennium BC By adopting an interdisciplinary approach structured around the concepts of identity and materiality this book addresses the appearance of a range of key phenomena that continue to shape our world

Far from Equilibrium: An archaeology of energy, life and humanity Michael J. Boyd, Roger C. P. Doonan, 2021-03-03 Archaeology is in crisis Spatial turns material turns and the ontological turn have directed the discipline away from its hard won battle to find humanity in the past Meanwhile popularised science camouflaged as archaeology produces shock headlines built on ancient DNA that reduce humanity s most intriguing historical problems to two dimensional caricatures Today archaeology finds itself less able than ever to proclaim its relevance to the modern world This volume foregrounds the relevance of the scholarship of John Barrett to this crisis Twenty four writers representing three generations of archaeologists scrutinise the current turmoil in the discipline and highlight the resolutions that may be found through Barrett s analytical framework Topics include archaeology and the senses the continuing problem of the archaeological record practice discourse and agency reorienting archaeological field practice the question of different expressions of human diversity and material ecologies Understanding archaeology as both a universal and highly specific discipline case studies range from the Aegean to Orkney and encompass Anatolia Korea Romania United Kingdom and the very nature of the Universe itself This critical examination of John Barrett s contribution to archaeology is simultaneously a response to his urgent call to arms to reorient archaeology in the service of humanity Ecological Sustainability for Non-timber Forest Products Charlie M. Shackleton, Ashok K. Pandey, Tamara Ticktin, 2015-03-24 There is growing knowledge about and appreciation of the importance of Non timber Forest Products NTFPs to rural livelihoods in developing countries and to a lesser extent developed countries However there is also an assumption on the part of policy makers that any harvesting of wild animal or plant products from the forests and other natural and modified ecosystems must be detrimental to the long term viability of target populations and species This book challenges this idea and shows that while examples of such negative impacts certainly exist there are also many examples of sustainable harvesting systems for NTFPs The chapters review and present coherent and scientifically sound information and case studies on the ecologically sustainable use of NTFPs They also outline a general interdisciplinary approach for assessing the sustainability of NTFP harvesting systems at different scales A wide range of case studies is included from Africa Asia and South America using plant and animal products for food crafts textiles medicines and cosmetics
