Multiple Choice Test Genocide:

Genocide Literature in Middle and Secondary Classrooms Sarah Donovan, 2016-08-12 At the heart of this inquiry into the ethical implications of education reform on reading practices in middle and secondary classrooms the central question is what is lost hidden or marginalized in the name of progress Drawing on her own experiences as an English teacher during the No Child Left Behind era the author examines school cultures focused on meeting standards and measurable outcomes She shows how genocide literature illuminates the ethics of reading and helps teachers and students rethink how literature should be taught in this modern globalized era and the purposes of education more broadly

Educational Genocide Horace 'Rog' B. Lucido, 2010-08-16 Across our country educational policies and practices are killing our students desire to learn and teachers passion to teach The central theme of this book is that high stakes testing is having a critically deleterious effect on our students The fallout impacts parents teachers schools districts and states Horace Rog Lucido uses language and supporting evidence that is clear and relatable to the reader Rarely is the topic of teacher care and concern for students ever embedded in works on educational theory and practice but here it is championed as the driving force for change exposing the causes and chronicling the effects of educational malfeasance ENGLISH SSC

Teaching History with Big Ideas S. G. Grant, Jill M. Gradwell, 2010-07-16 In the case studies that make up the bulk of this book middle and high school history teachers describe the decisions and plans and the problems and possibilities they encountered as they ratcheted up their instruction through the use of big ideas Framing a teaching unit around a question such as Why don't we know anything about Africa offers both teacher and students opportunities to explore historical actors ideas and events in ways both rich and engaging Such an approach exemplifies the construct of ambitious teaching whereby teachers demonstrate their ability to marry their deep knowledge of subject matter students and the school context in ways that fundamentally challenge the claim that history is boring
