British Coastal Forces Norman Friedman,2023-04-30 The Royal Navy invented the fast motor torpedo boat during the First World War and used it and other small coastal craft to great effect during the Second This book tells the dramatic story of British coastal forces both offensive and defensive in both World Wars and beyond In the Second World War British coastal forces fought a desperate battle to control the narrow seas particularly the Channel and the North Sea and took the war to the coasts of German occupied Europe fighting where larger warships could not be risked They also made a significant contribution to victory in the Mediterranean but it was primarily warfare in home waters that shaped wartime British Coastal Forces and left lessons for postwar development In this book Norman Friedman uniquely connects the technical story of the coastal craft and their weapons and other innovations with the way they fought In both world wars much of the technology was at the edge of what was feasible at the time Boats incorporated considerable British innovation and also benefited from important US contributions particularly in supplying high powered engines during World War II In contrast with larger warships British coastal forces craft were essentially shaped by a few builders and their part in the story is given full credit They also built a large number of broadly similar craft for air sea rescue and for completeness these are described in an appendix This fascinating dramatic story is also relevant to modern naval thinkers concerned with gaining or denying access to hostile shores The technology has changed but the underlying realities have not This book includes an extensive account of how coastal forces supported the biggest European example of seizing a defended shore the Normandy invasion That was by far the largest single British coastal forces operation demanding a wide range of innovations to make it possible Like other books in this series this one is based very heavily on contemporary official material much of which has not been used previously like the extensive reports of US naval observers who were allowed wide access to the Royal Navy as early as 1940 Combined with published memoirs these sources offer a much more complete picture than has previously appeared of how Coastal Forces fought and of the way in which various pressures both operational and industrial shaped them

Killing Shore K. A. Nelson,2025-08-05 I thought that this was going to another of those books puffing up the American side of WWII It most certainly isn't K A Nelson tells an interesting story illuminating a theatre of the North Atlantic campaign that has been comparatively neglected and he tells it well Recommended The Naval Review It is January 1942 Six weeks after the United States entered World War II Imperial Japan is annihilating American forces across the Far East while the Nazis stand triumphant over much of Europe Adolf Hitler's forces are about to commence an assault along the East Coast of the United States but this Atlantic Pearl Harbor would prove far more devastating than Japan's attack on Hawaii The wolves are closing in and few Americans realize their beaches and coastal cities are about to witness the worst naval defeat in American history The Western Hemisphere holds the key to victory for the beleaguered Allies but only if the vast economic and military resources of North and South America can be carried across the Atlantic by Allied merchant ships These civilian manned cargo vessels are the backbone of the American war economy and the lifeline enabling Britain and the Soviet Union to survive but Hitler's favorite admiral also knows this and he has set in motion a plan of unprecedented boldness Germany's dreaded submarines or U boats are going to the United States The fiery months that followed would pit American servicemen against German U boat sailors in a desperate struggle that stained East Coast waters with oil and blood In the crosshairs of this deadly cat and mouse game was a stalwart contingent of civilian mariners who crewed the tankers and freighters supplying the war against the Axis Powers Thousands of them would perish as hundreds of merchant ships were sunk Every American coastal state became a battlefield in 1942 and the events that transpired off New Jersey illustrate the perils and brutality of this forgotten campaign The seafloor along the Garden State is today strewn with shipwrecks that bear witness to the innumerable ways to die faced by friend and foe alike only miles from the boardwalk Though these seafarers' lives were forfeit the battle they fought would decide the fates of millions Marine Maintenance and Repair Industry DIANE

Publishing Company,1995-09 A step by step manual that provides site operators and environmental engineers in marine maintenance and repair yards with waste minimization options Provides worksheets designed to be used for a waste minimization assessment of a marine repair and service yard in developing an understanding of the yard's waste generating processes and to suggest ways to reduce the waste Outlines both the theory and practice of pollution prevention Pre designed assessment forms plus a detailed waste audit from a marine yard are included Australian national bibliography ,1961 'Boat Refugees' and Migrants at Sea: A Comprehensive Approach Violeta Moreno-Lax,Efthymios

Papastavridis,2016-11-21 This book aims to address boat migration with a holistic approach The different chapters consider the multiple facets of the phenomenon and the complex challenges they pose bringing together knowledge from several disciplines and regions of the world within a single collection Together they provide an integrated picture of transnational movements of people by sea with a view to making a decisive contribution to our understanding of current trends and future perspectives and their treatment from legal doctrinal legal theoretical and non legal angles The final goal is to unpack the tension that exists between security concerns and individual rights in this context and identify tools and strategies to adequately manage its various components garnering an inter regional multi disciplinary dialogue including input from international law law of the sea maritime security migration and refugee studies and human rights to address the position of migrants at sea thoroughly     Boating ,1998-07     Annual Report Maine Agricultural Experiment Station,Life Sciences and Agriculture Experiment Station,1980     Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1993
