Art School Propositions For The 21st Century:

Art School Steven Henry Madoff, 2009-09-11 Leading international artists and art educators consider the challenges of art education in today's dramatically changed art world. The last explosive change in art education came nearly a century ago when the German Bauhaus was formed. Today dramatic changes in the art world, its increasing professionalization, the pervasive power of the art market and fundamental shifts in art making itself in our post Duchampian era combined with a revolution in information technology raise fundamental questions about the education of today's artists. Art School Propositions for the 21st Century brings together more than thirty leading international artists and art educators to reconsider the practices of art education in academic, practical, ethical and philosophical terms. The essays in the book range over continents, histories, traditions, experiments and fantasies of education. Accompanying the essays are conversations with such prominent artist educators as John Baldessari, Michael Craig Martin, Hans Haacke and Marina Abramovic, as well as questionnaire responses from a dozen important artists among them Mike Kelley, Ann Hamilton, Guillermo Kuitca and Shirin Neshat about their own experiences as students. A fascinating analysis of the architecture of major historical art schools throughout the world looks at the relationship of the principles of their designs to the principles of the pedagogy practiced within their halls. And throughout the volume attention is paid to new initiatives and proposals about what an art school can and should be in the twenty-first century and what it shouldn't be. No other book on the subject covers more of the questions concerning art education today or offers more insight into the pressures, challenges, risks and opportunities for artists and art educators in the years ahead. Contributors: Marina Abramovic, Dennis Adams, John Baldessari, Ute Meta Bauer, Daniel Birnbaum, Saskia Bos, Tania Bruguera, Luis Camnitzer, Michael Craig Martin, Thierry de Duve, Clémentine Deliss, Charles Esche, Liam Gillick, Boris Groys, Hans Haacke, Ann Lauterbach, Ken Lum, Steven Henry Madoff, Brendan D. Moran, Ernesto Pujol, Raqs Media Collective, Charles Renfro, Jeffrey T. Schnapp, Michael Shanks, Robert Storr, Anton Vidokle. Re-imagining the Art School Neil Mulholland, 2019-08-22 This book proposes pedagogic methods to re-imagine the art academy. While art schooling was revolutionised in the early 20th century by the Bauhaus, the author argues that many art schools are unwittingly recycling the same modernist pedagogical fashions. Stagnating in such traditions, today's art schools are blind to recent advances in the scholarship of teaching and learning. As discipline-based education research in art eternally battles the perceived threat of epistemicide, transformative educational practices are rapidly overcoming the perennialism of the art school. The author develops critical case studies of open source and peer-to-peer methods for re-imagining the art academy, para-academia and andragogy/paragogy. This innovative book will be of interest and value to students and scholars of the art school as well as how the art academy can be reimagined and rebuilt. Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design Jenny Rintoul, 2016-11-18 Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design examines the relationship between two aspects of art education that appear at times inseparable or even indistinguishable and at others isolated and in conflict Critical and Contextual Studies CCS and studio practice Underpinned by international contexts this book is rooted in British art and design education and draws upon contemporary case studies of teaching and learning in post compulsory settings in order to analyse and illustrate identities and practices of CCS and its integration The chapters in this book are divided into three sections that build on one another Discourse and debate Models types and tensions and Proposals and recommendations Key issues include knowledge hierarchies and subject histories and identities constructions of theory and the symbiotic relationship between theory and practice models and practices of CCS within current post compulsory British art and design education the reification of ubiquitous terms in the fields of art and design and of education intuition and integration approaches to curriculum integration including design and management and suggestions for integrating CCS in art and design courses including implications for pedagogy and assessment Integrating Critical and Contextual Studies in Art and Design offers a comprehensive analysis of the current drive towards integration within art education and elucidates what we understand by the theory and practice of integration It explores the history theory teaching and student experience of CCS and will be of interest to lecturers teachers and pedagogues involved in art and design as well as researchers and students of art education analyses the conceptual contours of pedagogical transformations in the field of creative business education. It calls for an integrated and ethnographic approach to understand to analyse and to innovate creative curricula that is different from traditional business and management educations and its compliant culture. The book argues for a pluriversal vision based on social intelligence, critical thinking, inclusivity and creativity, resulting in a holistic pedagogy that understands the social needs of people and of the planet. The critical reflections on everyday realities of life is central to this intercultural pedagogic approach to understanding and explaining different forms of contemporary crisis. The book brings together interdisciplinary academic practitioners and their praxis with different philosophical orientations within a single ethnographic and theoretical narrative to reclaim global citizenship rights in the age of artificial intelligence, democratic deficit, hyperreality and alienation. In this way, the volume breaks away from the narrow silo of disciplinary boundaries to outline the pedagogical praxis of creative and critical business education that challenges existing knowledge, power and institutions while offering alternative pedagogic approaches to learning, teaching and research.

Art and Money Peter Stupples, Jane Venis, 2015-10-05. Art and money have much in common. Both are spheres of social activity that carry symbolic values. A coin is simply a piece of metal stamped with signs to give it symbolic meaning to give it a value, a value that changes with the vicissitudes of its economic life or when no longer legal tender with its life as a collectable. A painting is a piece of canvas stretched on a frame to make it taut, which is then covered with pigment, brushed with an image, a sign that gives it value, a value that changes with the vicissitudes of its aesthetic and symbolic life with its commodity value. Art and money come together whenever the values of both are exchanged within a market, in trade between artist and client, patron between dealer and customer, between competitors for social authority. These relationships of art and money are examined by a number of writers from a variety of perspectives from different periods in history within different cultures and engaging with different media of art from Renaissance Italy to Pop Art and the recent flourishing of the art of Australian Aborigines from critiques of the market and contemporary art to the funding of art education from an examination of the values that are being bought and sold to ways for artists to avoid an over engagement with the money economy and finally the relationship between art, national identity and coinage.

Unfolding the Cards Ian Damerell, 2015-03-03

These essays attempt to confront the effect of years of postmodernity and its promotion of individuality at the cost of solidarity and communal spirit In the wake of this it suggests possible frameworks for an art study that restores a certain focus on communal spirit It proposes too that art study's fragile position in contemporary society is a consequence of over commercialisation and its resultant surface values Consumerist and corporate ideology encourage the consumer individual's self realisation seemingly divorced from communal interests Within this isolation lies the potential breakdown of ethics Therefore I dream of a kinder society i e one where we are engaged in realising the community as its citizens This is not blind obedience but in a spirit of contributing to a whole society More specifically it means allowing and to a degree maintaining art study as a sphere of possibilities for budding citizen artists It is envisaging art study as a discursive arena and creating an academic space that allows for art's main contribution the dislodging of the so called proper i e entrenched doctrine I believe that art study can contribute to the improving of society in the main because art enacts a different sharing of the sensible
