Art As Research Opportunities And Challenges:

Art as Research Shaun McNiff, 2013 The new practice of art based research uses art making as a primary mode of enquiry rather than continuing to borrow research methodologies from other disciplines to study artistic processes Drawing on contributions from arts therapies education history organizational studies and philosophy the essays critically examine unique challenges that include the personal and sometimes intimate nature of artistic enquiry and the complexities of the partnership with social science which has dominated applied arts research how artistic discoveries are apt to emerge spontaneously even contrary to plans and what we think we know how truth can be examined through both fact and fiction as well as the interplay of objective and subjective experience and ways of generating artistic evidence and communicating outcomes Offering examples from all of the arts this volume will be welcomed by researchers and students in many fields

Panero, Jennifer Drake, Corinne Jola, 2022-08-16 Ethical Issues in Art Therapy (4th Edition) Bruce L. Moon, Emily Goldstein Nolan, 2019-10-09

The real world of professional ethics in art therapy is more times than not a spectrum of shades of gray. In this exceptional new fourth edition, the authors raise questions and provide information related to the many ethical dilemmas art therapists face. Several chapters refer to the Ethical Principles for Art Therapists and Code of Professional Practice of the Art Therapy Credentials Board. Changes that were made to the AATA Ethics Document in 2013 are discussed. Models of how to think through and resolve the difficult ethical problems art therapists encounter during their professional lives are presented. A chapter discussing burnout and compassion fatigue costs of caring provides an understanding of the responsibility that systems hold in supporting therapists and clients. Within each chapter, there are dilemma-laden vignettes intended to stimulate reflection and discussion. Most chapters include a series of questions pertaining to practical applications aimed at helping to review the material, formulate and clarify positions on key issues. Also included are suggested artistic tasks intended to help the reader engage with topics in meta-cognitive, kinetic, visual, and sensory methods. Compelling illustrations throughout the text are provided as examples of creative responses to the artistic tasks. In addition, informational topics dealing with ethical violations, rights of artworks, marketing, advertising, and publicity are explored. The importance of multicultural approaches is expanded with the discussion that competence is a baseline for practice as an art therapist. Significant updates were made to the chapter that explores art therapy in the digital age. The appendices contain ethics documents of the British Association of Art Therapists for comparison. This unique book is designed for art therapy students, art therapists, expressive arts therapy professionals, and will be a useful and supplemental textbook for art therapy courses dealing with professional ethics and supervision.

ART-BASED GROUP THERAPY Bruce L. Moon, 2016-05-09

Leading art therapy groups is often a challenge, but as Bruce Moon so eloquently describes in this new second edition, making art in the context of others is an incredibly and almost inexplicably powerful experience. By placing the art at the center of practice, Art-Based Group Therapy creates an explanatory model and rationale for group practice that is rooted in art therapy theory and identity. There are four primary goals discussed in this text: First, an overview of essential therapeutic elements of art-based group work is provided. Second, a number of case vignettes that illustrate how therapeutic elements are enacted in practice are presented. Third, the author clearly differentiates art-based group therapy theory from traditional group psychotherapy theory. Fourth, the aspects of art-based group work and their advantages unique to art therapy are explored. Art-based group processes can be used to enhance participants' sense of community and augment educational endeavors, promote wellness, prevent emotional difficulties, and treat psychological/behavioral problems. Artistic activity is used in art-based group processes to:

1. create self-expression and to recognize the things group members have in common with one another
2. develop awareness of the universal aspects of their difficulties as a means to identify and resolve interpersonal conflicts
3. increase self-worth and alter self-concepts
4. respond to others and express compassion for one another and 5 clarify feelings and values Through the author s effective use of storytelling the reader encounters the group art therapy experience transcending the case vignette and didactic instruction Art based group therapy can help group members achieve nearly any desired outcome and or address a wide range of therapeutic objectives The book will be of benefit to students practitioners and educators alike Using it as a guide art therapy students may be more empowered to enter into the uncertain terrains of their practice grounded in a theory soundly based in their area of study Practitioners will no doubt be encouraged validated and inspired to continue their work The author succeeds in establishing a framework that allows art therapists to communicate the value of their work in a language that is unique to art therapy Art-Based Supervision Barbara J. Fish,2016-06-23 Art Based Supervision is a unique text for graduate supervision classes and seminars as well as a resource for post graduate supervisors and practitioners It offers a new view of supervision one that incorporates both images and words as tools to investigate and communicate the interactions that occur in therapy and in the systems in which clinicians work The fundamental principles of supervision provided in the book are useful for anyone interested in exploring the use of images to support reflection understanding and empathy in their work Full color images further enrich the narrative In addition to supervision courses Art based Supervision may be used for introductory art therapy psychology social work and counseling courses for readers interested in a broad range of intimate examples of the challenges of therapeutic work and the use of response art to grasp nuanced communication Urban Youth and Photovoice Melvin Delgado,2015 This book provides readers with a solid theoretical foundation and a guided approach to how to carry out a youth photovoice project It takes the readers throughout all facets of the process including raising key ethical considerations when involving youth in this process In addition this book outlines for the reader considerations and cautions that they must exercise in order not to subvert the potential of this method for achieving important social change in the lives of participants their families and communities Critical Social Work Praxis Sobia Shaheen Shaikh,Brenda A. LeFrançois,Teresa Macías,2022-03-31T00:00:00Z What we think must inform what we do argue the editors and authors of this cutting edge social work textbook In this innovative expansive and wide ranging collection leading social work thinkers engage with social work traditions to bridge social work theory and practice and arrive at social work praxis a uniting of critical thought and ethical action Critical Social Work Praxis is organized into sixteen sections each reflecting a critical social work tradition or approach Each section has a theory chapter which succinctly outlines the tradition s main concepts or tenets a praxis chapter which shows how the theory informs social work practice and a commentary chapter which provides a critical analysis of the tensions and difficulties of the approach The text helps students understand how to extend theory into praxis and gives instructors critical new tools and discussion ideas This book is the result of decades of experience teaching social work theory and praxis and is a comprehensive teaching and learning tool for the critical social work classroom Media, Practice and Theory: Tracking emergent thresholds of experience Nicole De Brabandere,2023-04-18 This volume gathers research at the intersection of art and the interdisciplinary humanities to develop an understanding of media assemblages that insist on the generativity of their situatedness within ecologies of practice. These contributions propose media assemblages that enlarge the time and space for co-compositions between media and bodies that reshape subjective perceptual and affective registers of experience. Media assemblages include photography, performance, criticism, curation, installation, animation, collage, video, and VR, as well as archival and somatic practices. Research as a form of practice is a key orientation in this volume since it offers a means of engaging the world, making proposition offered by Isabelle Stengers that practices are specified through irreducible entanglements that cause one to think, feel, and hesitate. The generative linkages between different disciplinary approaches for engaging research practice across the arts and humanities are favoured over disciplinary and media-based exclusivity. When practice is not posed as an intervention or counterpoint to scholarly research or in opposition to the discursive differences, emerge not based on convention but through the situatedness of emergent insight. The goal is thus not to forward a reproducible formula for knowledge creation but to weave the conditions for utterances both within and in excess of discipline, convention, and establishment. How can research engender the making of communities between across and in excess of institutional frameworks through the emergent affinities, postures, and formats of evolving and inclusive forms of research? This volume is a valuable reference for researchers/practitioners within the arts and humanities as it exemplifies both critical and situated methods for developing interdisciplinary research as a means of transforming the terms of research itself.

Arts-Based Research Methods in Writing Studies Kate Hanzalik, 2021-02-09 As the arts become an increasingly popular pedagogical tool in writing studies, Arts-Based Research Methods in Writing Studies offers scholars and educators in the field ways to leverage the arts for their own scholarship through the practice of arts-based research (ABR). Tailored to the needs of writing studies scholars, this concise guide presents ways of exploring and addressing unresolved research questions from the past as well as new pressing questions that are emerging in light of increasingly fraught and complicated current contexts. It explores motives and methods for taking up ABR, sheds light on the processes of representing research and the ethical imperative of methodological disclosure, and looks critically at the complexities of fully realizing ABR in writing studies while offering some pedagogical applications. Connecting theory to practice, this book also performs ABR through a co-created mixed-media text about the everyday and extraordinary stories woven into the fabric of new American artists' composing processes. Arts-Based Research Methods in Writing Studies lends itself to insight that is at once personal for writing studies researchers, useful for research communities, and a catalyst for social change beyond institutional walls. As such, it will be an important resource for scholars, educators, and graduate students in writing studies and those interested in multimodal, multilingual, and translingual learning, equitable pedagogies, and administrative practices, online writing instruction, transnational literacies, research methods, community-based research, and disability studies in composition.

The Integration of the Humanities and Arts with Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine in Higher Education National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Policy and Global Affairs, Board on Higher Education and Workforce, Committee on Integrating Higher Education in the Arts, Humanities, Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, 2018-07-21 In the United States broad study in an array of different disciplines arts humanities science mathematics engineering as well as an in depth study within a special area of interest have been defining characteristics of a higher education But over time in depth study in a major discipline has come to dominate the curricula at many institutions

This evolution of the curriculum has been driven in part by increasing specialization in the academic disciplines. There is little doubt that disciplinary specialization has helped produce many of the achievements of the past century. Researchers in all academic disciplines have been able to delve more deeply into their areas of expertise, grappling with ever more specialized and fundamental problems. Yet today many leaders, scholars, parents, and students are asking whether higher education has moved too far from its integrative tradition towards an approach heavily rooted in disciplinary silos. These silos represent what many see as an artificial separation of academic disciplines. This study reflects a growing concern that the approach to higher education that favors disciplinary specialization is poorly calibrated to the challenges and opportunities of our time. The Integration of the Humanities and Arts with Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine in Higher Education examines the evidence behind the assertion that educational programs that mutually integrate learning experiences in the humanities and arts with science, technology, engineering, mathematics, and medicine (STEMM) lead to improved educational and career outcomes for undergraduate and graduate students. It explores evidence regarding the value of integrating more STEMM curricula and labs into the academic programs of students majoring in the humanities and arts, and evidence regarding the value of integrating curricula and experiences in the arts and humanities into college and university STEMM education programs.
