Artificial Love A Story Of Machines And Architecture:

Artificial Love Paul Shephard, 2003-05-09 A vision of architecture that includes sculpture machines and technology and encapsulates the history of the human species According to Paul Shephard architecture is the rearranging of the world for human purposes Sculpture machines and landscapes are all architecture every bit as much as buildings are In his writings Shephard examines old assumptions about architecture and replaces the critical theory of the academic with the active theory of the architect citizen enamored of the world around him Artificial Love weaves together three stories about architecture into one The first about machines as architecture leads to speculations about technology and the human condition and to the assertion that machines are the sculptures of today The second story is about the ways that architecture reflects the tribal and personal desires of those who make it In the West ideas of community multiculturalism and globalization compete furiously leaving architecture to exist as it always has as the past in the present The third story features individual people experiencing their lives in the context of architecture Here Shephard borrows the rhetorical device of Shakespeare's seven ages of man to propose that each person's life imitates the accumulating history of the human species Shephard's version of the history of humans is a technological one in which machines become sculpture and sculpture becomes architecture For Shephard our machines do not separate us from nature Rather our technology is our nature and we cannot but be in harmony with nature The change that we have wrought in the world he says is a wonderful and powerful thing

Right-Bam-Now!, digital original edition Paul Shephard, 2014-01-10 In his writing the architect

Paul Shephard examines old assumptions about architecture and replaces the critical theory of the academic with the active theory of the architect citizen enamored of the world around him In this BIT he takes Thanksgiving Day as an opportunity to reflect on the diaspora of his family and the evolution of human emotional bonds and conducting a seminar he wonders how philosophy became part of architecture Questioning Architectural Judgment Steven A. Moore, Barbara B.

Wilson, 2013-07-24 The book shines light on the problem of judgment particularly in the realm of architectural technics and the codes that regulate it The struggle to define sustainability and thus judge architecture through such lenses is but one dimension of the contemporary problem of judgment By providing the reader with an inherently interdisciplinary study of a particular discipline architecture it brings to the topic lenses that challenge the too frequently unexamined assumptions of the discipline By situating architecture within a broader cultural field and using case studies to dissect the issues discussed the book emphasizes that it is not simply a matter of designing better more efficient or more stringent codes to guide place making but a matter of reconstructing the boundaries of the systems to be coded The authors are winners of the EDRA Place Research Award 2014 for their work on the Green Alley Demonstration Project used in the book Alternative Routes to the Sustainable City Steven A. Moore, 2007-01-01

Dr Steven A Moore investigates the exemplary cities of Austin Texas Curitiba Brazil and Frankfurt Germany to examine how each city has approached and maintained sustainability and thus stimulated economic growth preserved threatened ecosystems and improved social equity These three cities have successfully developed different dispositions toward politics nature and technology proving that there is no single abstract model or universal checklist but different approaches for different people Big Pieces of Time Andre Dekker, Geert van de Camp, Ruud Reutelingsperger, 2010 Observatorium Nieuw Terbregge is an art piece built in the noise barrier along a Dutch highway in Rotterdam designed by the artists group Observatorium or Observatory including Geert van de Camp Andre Dekker and Ruud Reutelingsperger Source inconnue Sustainable Architectures Simon Guy, Steven A. Moore, 2005 As buildings are responsible for fifty per cent of CO2 emissions their design has become the focus of intense technical scrutiny Knowing how to build more technically efficient or ecologically responsible buildings and being able to assemble the social resources to do so requires different forms of knowledge and practice There is wide contestation over the optimal pathways to greener buildings design and great diversity in practices of sustainable architecture This volume brings together leading researchers from across the European Union and North America both to illustrate the diversity of practice and to provide a critical commentary on this key debate The reader is provided with an introduction to competing perspectives on the sustainable architecture debate international exemplars of differing practice and an overview of new theoretical and methodological resources for understanding and meeting the conceptual social and technical challenges of sustainable architecture In Dwelling Peter King, 2016-05-23

A dwelling or the physical space we call a house is full of meaning for us It can be implacable in that it can work for or against us depending on how we are able to access and use it This means that we have to learn to accept dwelling as it is and find some accommodation with our surrounding environment This book develops a new approach to looking at dwelling and how we use it It explores the manner in which we use housing to exclude others and so protect our privacy It also argues we need to exclude others in order to protect and nurture our loved ones The book combines philosophical analysis and literary and film criticism to put forward an innovative and insightful new approach to looking at housing It draws on the work of thinkers as diverse as Aristotle Derrida Kierkegaard Nussbaum and Scruton and the films of Chaplin Bergman Lynch Tarr Teshigahara and Van Sant to construct a new theoretical approach to housing research

Speculative Coolness Bryan Cantley, 2023-04-04 Cantley's work offers a unique and critical insight into the emergence of a liminal territory that exists between the real and the virtual that mainstream architecture has yet to exploit Speculative Coolness surveys and collects a highly experimental architecture design praxis This book presents a selected body of his work showcasing projects which seek to understand and explore the conditions contexts and media logics which govern this new territory and to speculate on the Architecture's which it might occupy and which might occupy it Featuring both resolved projects and works that are under development this anthology represents constructs that locate themselves somewhere between architecture and its documentative media The projects are presented alongside a series of critical essays written by pre eminent architectural practitioners and theorists These essays explore the disciplinary social and cultural context of the work serving to underscore the importance of these explorations to the expansion of disciplinary knowledge

Living Alone, Living Together Peter King, 2017-06-12 This book considers how a dwelling can protect and promote both our anxieties and our relationships Both essays use a non traditional literature to explore being alone and being with others rather than relying on the social science literature and offer a distinct and original contribution to the housing studies literature

If Classrooms Matter Jeffrey R. Di Leo, Walter R. Jacobs, 2004 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Understanding Housing Finance Peter King, 2009-01-13 One of the biggest challenges for students of housing is understanding the financial principles which underpin the place of housing in the wider economy By taking a political economy approach Peter King's Understanding Housing Finance makes the basic principles of the subject accessible without requiring detailed prior knowledge of economics or financial systems The book explains housing finance by exploring the way in which markets and governments react together It takes a conceptual approach to consider the advantages and limits of housing markets and why governments intervene The consequences of intervention are explored in detail using examples of housing subsidy systems and policy mechanisms such as rent control housing allowances and subsidies to owner occupation This is a key reference for students on housing and planning courses at both undergraduate and postgraduate level The book's approach means that its relevance is not confined to one particular housing system but is useful for those studying housing finance in most developed and developing countries

Blueprint, 2003 New Scientist and Science Journal, 2003 Azure, 2003 Architectural Record, 2001

Grey Room ,2003 Grey Room is a scholarly journal devoted to the theorization of modern and contemporary architecture art and media Published quarterly it is dedicated to the task of promoting and sustaining critical investigation into each of these fields separately and into their mutual interactions The Book Review Digest ,2003 The Architects' Journal ,2003 The Publishers Weekly ,2003
