Religion and Dangerous Environmental Change Dieter Gerten,2010 Given the increasing threats of environmental changes to human societies it is imperative to complement technological and economical problem solutions with alternative perspectives from the humanities and the arts This pioneering book attempts to advance climate and environmental sciences by including religion as a microcosm of cultural response to environmental change The authors are renowned in disciplines as diverse as hydrology religious studies theology cultural studies philosophy and visual arts They exemplify how religion can contribute to sustainable mitigation of climate change and to creative adaption to its impacts thus preparing for a deep cultivation of research on religion in environmental change

Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa

Washington Odongo Ochola, P. C. Sanginga, Isaac Bekalo, 2010 The complex and dynamic interlinks between natural resource management NRM and development have long been recognized by national and international research and development organizations and have generated voluminous literature However much of what is available in the form of university course books practical learning manuals and reference materials in NRM is based on experiences from outside Africa Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa A Resource Book provides an understanding of the various levels at which NRM issues occur and are being addressed scientifically economically socially and politically The book's nine chapters present state of the art perspectives within a holistic African context The book systematically navigates the tricky landscape of integrated NRM with special reference to Eastern and Southern Africa against the backdrop of prevailing local national regional and global social economic and environmental challenges The authors' wide experience the rich references made to emerging challenges and opportunities and the presentation of different tools principles approaches case studies and processes make the book a rich and valuable one stop resource for postgraduate students researchers policymakers and NRM practitioners The book is designed to help the reader grasp in depth NRM perspectives and presents innovative guidance for research design and problem solving including review questions learning activities and recommended further reading The book was developed through a writeshop process by a multi disciplinary team of lecturers from the University of Nairobi Egerton University Kenyatta University the University of Zimbabwe the University of Malawi Makerere University and the University of Dar es Salam In addition selected NRM experts from regional and international research organizations including the World Agroforestry Center ICRAF the Africa Forest Forum RUFORUM IIRR and the International Development Research Centre IDRC participated in the writeshop and contributed material to the book

Beyond the Crises: Zimbabwe's Prospects for Transformation Tendai Murisa, Tendai Chikweche, 2015-12-01 Over the past years few African countries have been the focus of discussions and analyses generating a vast array of literature as much as Zimbabwe The socioeconomic and political crises since the turn of the century have deeply transformed the country from the ideals of a vibrant freshly independent nation just two decades earlier These transformations have necessitated the call for the restructuring of Zimbabwean society polity and economy But this literature remains exclusively within the realm of academic thinking and theorising with no concerted effort to move beyond this by explicitly drawing out the policy implications Beyond the Crises

Zimbabwe's Prospects for Transformation is a welcome addition to the academic and policy literature with a much broader and all embracing focus in terms of policy interventions. By focusing on different aspects of social and economic justice, Murisa and Chikweche go beyond initiating a broad discussion on these two key pillars of human development with a view to suggesting possible future directions of practical solutions and policy development for the attainment of inclusive social and economic justice for Zimbabweans.

Changing Climate, Changing Worlds Meredith Welch-Devine, Anne Sourdri, Brian J. Burke, 2020-04-07 This book explores how individuals and communities perceive and understand climate change using their observations of change in the world around them. Because processes of climatic change operate at spatial and temporal scales that differ from those of everyday practice, the phenomenon can be difficult to understand. However, flora and fauna, which are important natural and cultural resources for human communities, do respond to the pressures of environmental change. Humans in turn observe and adapt to those responses even when they may not understand their causes. Much of the discussion about human experiences of our changing climate centers on disasters and extreme events, but we argue that a focus on the everyday, on the microexperiences of change, has the advantage of revealing how people see, feel, and make sense of climate change in their own lives. The chapters of this book are drawn from Asia, Europe, Africa, and South and North America. They use ethnographic inquiry to understand local knowledge and perceptions of climate change and the social and ecological changes inextricably intertwined with it. Together, they illustrate the complex process of coming to know climate change, show some of the many ways that climate change and our responses to it inflict violence, and point to promising avenues for moving toward just and authentic collaborative responses.

Global Environment Outlook 4 United Nations Environment Programme, 2007 The fourth report in the Global Environment Outlook series provides a comprehensive, scientifically credible, policy relevant, and up to date assessment of and outlook for the state of the global environment. Environment for development is the GEO 4 underlying theme, and the report pays special attention to the role and impact of the environment on human well-being, as well as to the use of environmental valuation as a tool for decision making. GEO 4's 2007 publication date marks the half-way point for the Millennium Development Goals. The environment, as well as being the subject of MDG 7, is also a thread that runs through all the goals.

Includes Errata Primate Tourism Anne E. Russon, Janette Wallis, 2014-09-11 This book considers primate tourism as a primate conservation tool, weighing its effects and developing informed guidelines for ongoing and future tourism ventures.

Strengthening Disaster Resilience in Small States Wonderful Hope Khonje, Travis Mitchell, 2019-10-07 Strengthening Disaster Resilience in Small States Commonwealth Perspectives offers timely and expert analysis of differentiated exposure of small states to natural disasters, including an examination of specific interventions for strengthening small states' resilience to this phenomenon.

Adapting to Climate Change in East Africa Victor A. Orindi, 2005 This paper provides an overview of the likely impacts of climate change in three least developed countries in East Africa: Sudan, Tanzania, and Uganda. In the coming decades, climate change is likely to alter temperatures and distribution of rainfall contribute to sea level rise and increase the frequency and intensity of extreme weather events in East Africa Climate change will have both a direct impact on development of climate dependent activities such as infrastructure and agriculture and indirect consequences for social systems such as issues of poverty conflict health and education As a result climate change has the potential to undermine and even undo socio economic development in East Africa and it is imperative that governments and institutions come together to formulate long term adaptation strategies

Current Literature on Science of Science ,2004 Meeting the Challenges of Climate Change to Tourism Louis

D'Amore,Patrick Kalifungwa,2014-07-24 As UN Secretary General Ban Ki moon has stated Climate change is the pre eminent geopolitical and economic issue of the 21st century It rewrites the global equation for development peace and prosperity The scientific evidence is clear climate change is happening and the exposure to weather related disasters such as heat waves forest fires cyclones and flooding has the potential to seriously impact the tourism sector The travel and tourism industry is both a significant contributor to climate change being responsible for 5% of global greenhouse gas emissions and is directly impacted by it At the same time the industry is a vital driver of the global economy with an estimated US 6 6 trillion total contribution in 2012 and is particularly significant to developing and emerging economies where the impacts of climate change can be most disruptive This collection of papers is a timely and indispensable source of insights and models of best practice relating to the mitigation of and adaptation to climate change by various sectors of the industry Tarangire:

Human-Wildlife Coexistence in a Fragmented Ecosystem Christian Kiffner,Monica L. Bond,Derek E. Lee,2022-04-22

This edited volume summarizes multidisciplinary work on wildlife conservation in the Tarangire Ecosystem of northern Tanzania By drawing together human centered wildlife centered and interdisciplinary research this book contributes to furthering our understanding of the often complex mechanisms underlying human wildlife interactions in dynamic landscapes By synthesizing the wealth of knowledge generated by anthropologists ecologists conservationists entrepreneurs geographers sociologists and zoologists over the last decades this book also highlights practicable and locally adapted solutions for shaping human wildlife interactions towards coexistence Readers will discover the reciprocal and often unexpected direct and indirect dynamics between people and wildlife While boundaries e g between people and wildlife between protected and un protected areas and between different groups of people are a common theme throughout the different chapters this book stresses the commonalities links and synergies between seemingly disparate disciplines opinions and conservation approaches The chapters are divided into clear sections such as the human dimension the wildlife dimension and human wildlife interactions representing a detailed summary of anthropological ecological and interdisciplinary research projects that have been conducted in the Tarangire Ecosystem over the last decades Beyond this work contributes to the debate about land sharing versus land sparing and provides an in depth case study for understanding the complexities associated with human wildlife coexistence in one of the few remaining ecosystems that supports migratory
