African Cities And Towns Before The:

African Cities and Towns Before the European Conquest Richard W. Hull,1976 An analytical and comparative survey of major urban centers south of the Sahara during the thousand years before European colonization examining their governments economics societies and arts The African City Bill Freund,2007-03-05 This book is comprehensive both in terms of time coverage from before the Pharaohs to the present moment and in that it tries to consider cities from the entire continent not just Sub Saharan Africa Apart from factual information and rich description material culled from many sources it looks at many issues from why urban life emerged in the first place to how present day African cities cope in difficult times Instead of seeing towns and cities as somehow extraneous to the real Africa it views them as an inherent part of developing Africa indigenous colonial and post colonial and emphasizes the extent to which the future of African society and African culture will likely be played out mostly in cities The book is written to appeal to students of history but equally to geographers planners sociologists and development specialists interested in urban problems African Cities ,2009-05-20 Contemporary Africa is undergoing a period of unprecedented urban expansion which is throwing up new challenges in the provision of essential services and contentious questions about ownership of urban spaces This volume explores the interconnections between these processes whilst avoiding the tendency to forget that cities are also embedded in deeper historical processes that are integral to the framing of entitlements Histories of migrancy and the creation of urban stranger communities are fundamental in deciding who lives where and what this means materially and socially The gated communities that are springing up are often layered across older forms of urban segregation and or segmentation Urban water and food supply the management of urban land claims inequality and popular culture are closely examined The African City Anthony O'Connor,2013-01-11 This book explores various characteristics of tropical African cities with special reference to change in the post independence period It stresses the diversity of urban forms and urban experience to be found within the region distinguishing the more general features from those peculiar to individual cities Much has been written about urban Africa but nearly all relates to particular cities this book provides a context for such studies This review provides an essential foundation both for theoretical clarification of the processes of urbanization and for practical planning decisions The topics covered range from rural urban migration and national urban systems to the urban economy housing and the spatial structure of cities The sharp contrasts between indigenous and colonial urban traditions are emphasized but so also is the evidence for convergence today as indigenization takes place in the colonial cities while Westernization proceeds in those of indigenous origin This book was first published in 1983 Learning Cities, Town Planning, and the Creation of Livelihoods Biao, Idowu,2019-05-31 As both a physical living space and emotional environment cities impact human beings in a number of ways These ways include but are not limited to the kinds of relationship that may exist among the varying categories of inhabitants of the city the organization of and accessibility to leaning resources and facilities the Postcolonial African Historiography Thula Simpson,Immanuel R. Harisch,2025-05-09 The Routledge Companion to Postcolonial African Historiography explores history s fortunes in Modern Africa south of the Sahara from the discipline s Golden Age as a handmaiden in struggles against colonialism to difficult decades when its survival has been threatened by capricious political and economic conditions and the uncertain present where the continent s historians struggle to justify their value to frequently sceptical publics In exploring the discipline s practical role in past struggles for African emancipation the volume speaks directly to these challenging but changing circumstances The chapters feature contributions from leading experts on historiographical traditions of different regions of the continent They collectively demonstrate how the process of instrumentalizing the past to advance lay struggles has influenced the choices historians have made regarding sources methodology interpretation audiences and platforms This practical application has strongly shaped the diverse forms that African historiography has assumed as reflected in this book The themes discussed offer a platform for inserting Africa into comparative studies of global historiographical traditions whilst also contributing to contemporary debates on decolonization In offering accessible insights from leading historians this is an essential handbook for students and scholars of African history and historiography as well as all those interested in postcolonial studies

Tradition, Culture and Development in Africa Ambe J Njoh, 2016-12-05 The fact that Africa continues to lag behind all regions of the world on every indicator of development is hardly contentious However there is fierce debate on why this should be the case despite national and international efforts to reverse this situation While this book does not attempt to answer this question per se it addresses a largely ignored but important issue which might provide some insights into the matter This issue is the link between culture tradition and socio economic development in Africa By weaving a common thread through these concepts this book breaks new ground in the discourse on development It highlights the differences between Euro centric culture which is rooted in capitalist ideology and Protestant ethic and traditional African culture where concepts such as capital accumulation entrepreneurial attitudes and material wealth are not of top priority In doing so it dispels popular myths stereotypes and distortions as well as discounting misleading accounts about major aspects of African culture and traditional practices

A History of Addis Ababa from Its Foundation in 1886 to 1910 Peter P. Garretson, 1974 This thesis traces aspects of the political economic and religious history of Addis Ababa from 1886 to 1910 It is based largely on documentary material both Ethiopian and European but also depends on oral information As a city it was unique in Africa because of the absence of an imposed European direction of its development and as a result it grew ad hoc influenced by both Ethiopian and foreign concepts of an urban community From the beginnings Emperor Menilek completely dominated the political and administrative machinery of the capital but during his illnesses many of his responsibilities were perforce delegated to his closest associates who exercised their powers largely through the organisation of the Imperial Palace The bureaucracy became increasingly civilian in its personnel rather than military especially after the Battle of Adwa Furthermore since Addis Ababa was also the capital of the empire the city and its administrators played not only a local but also an imperial role The economic influence of the capital was even more pronounced where again the Emperor was more important than any other individual in the land and under his watchful eye foreigners dominated the import and export trade while Christians wrested the overall control of trade in the Empire from the Muslims Yet evangelically the church was rarely very energetic in the capital although its influence was pervasive While many historians have seen Menilek's reign as a period of significant innovation and modernisation this thesis regards that as an exaggerated claim For when closely examined the modernisation of even the capital was never very impressive although it was the acknowledged centre of foreign influence Nonetheless the capital did show itself to be the main point for the diffusion of the few modernisations that were introduced into the country from the 1880s to 1910

A Comparative Study of Six City-state Cultures Mogens Herman Hansen, 2002 Indigenous African Institutions George Ayittey, 2006-09-01 George Ayittey's Indigenous African Institutions presents a detailed and convincing picture of pre colonial and post colonial Africa its cultures traditions and indigenous institutions including participatory democracy

Planning Power Ambe Njoh, 2007-01-24 With a multidisciplinary perspective Planning Power examines British and French colonial town and country planning efforts in Africa Drawing out similarities in the colonial administrative and economic strategies of the two powers rather than emphasizing the differences the book offers an unusually nuanced view of African planning systems in a time of upheaval and political change In showing how the colonial authorities sought to gain political and social control in Africa it can be seen how their will to exert political power influenced every area of planning practice during this era This unique comparative analysis of British and French colonial town planning covering the entire sub Saharan African region takes theories from a wide range of disciplines including political science history urban and regional planning economics and geography to paint a comprehensive picture of the subject Written by a prolific researcher and writer in the political economy of urban and regional planning in Africa Planning Power is valuable reading for students and academics in a range of disciplines

Environmental Management and Sustainable Development of Cities Soji Oyeranmi, 2023-11-25 This study contends that proper urban environmental management strategies are vital to the sustainable development of cities in any country It demonstrates that cities as drivers of sustainable development can be positive forces in support of social equality cultural vitality economic prosperity and environmental sustainability It takes a primary focus on Ibadan Nigeria Most cities in sub Saharan Africa have become badly degraded Leaders and planners rarely fully grasp the meaning of the concept of sustainable development and fail to combine their bids to achieve economic development with urban environmental management strategies The book describes how reformation and transformation are still possible in Ibadan and elsewhere and discusses the Sustainable Ibadan Project SIP as a methodology to turn Ibadan into a globally competitive and sustainable city It will be of interest to urban planners worldwide and to researchers and students of the Global South
