Democratic Experiments in Africa Michael Bratton,Nicolas Van de Walle,1997-08-13 Appendix The Data Set

Democracy, Elections, and Constitutionalism in Africa Charles Manga Fombad,Nico Steytler,2021 This volume examines democracy and elections in Africa taking stock of the state of constitutional democracy on the continent after the democratic gains of the 1990s and 2000s focusing on how competitive politics or multiparty democracy can be realized and how through competition such politics could lead to better policy and practice outcomes Political Opposition and Democracy in Sub-Saharan Africa Elliott Green,Johanna Söderström,Emil Uddhammar,2016-04-08 This book takes a closer look at the role and meaning of political opposition for the development of democracy across sub Saharan Africa Why is room for political opposition in most cases so severely limited Under what circumstances has the political opposition been able to establish itself in a legitimate role in African politics To answer these questions this edited volume focuses on the institutional settings the nature and dynamics within and between political parties and the relationship between the citizens and political parties It is found that regional devolution and federalist structures enable political opposition to organize and gain local power as a supplement to influence at the central level Generally however opposition parties are lacking in organization and institutionalization as well as in their ability to find support in civil society and promote the issues that voters find most important Overall strong executive powers unchecked by democratic institutions in combination with deferential values and fear of conflict undermine legitimate opposition activity This book was originally published as a special issue of

Democratization African Politics Joellen Pretorius, 2008 In 1991 Samuel Huntington published The Third Wave Democratization in the Late Twentieth Century The book informed much of the scholarly work on democratisation in Africa Although comprehensive in classifying the causes and limitations of transitions to democracy The Third Wave was also limited in its definition of democracy and expectations of a new democracy This volume engages with the topics of democracy and democratisation in contemporary African politics at the local national and continental level It acknowledges a conceptual debt to Huntington when discussing elections party systems leadership and the development of continental norms of liberal democracy but also highlights new conversations eg about participatory spaces that go beyond the Third Wave Ethnic Stratification and Economic Inequality around the World Max Haller in collaboration, Anja Eder, 2016-03-03 The modern world is characterised by pervasive economic inequalities Strong economic growth in some developing countries has contributed to a degree to a reduction in the levels of inequality between nations yet inequality within nations remains high and in some cases continues to increase Ethnic Stratification and Economic Inequality around the World investigates the reasons for these striking differences exploring the coincidence and interaction between economic stratification and ethnic differentiation Drawing on extensive international survey and statistical data the author develops a new theory and concrete hypotheses concerning the conditions which lead toward extreme inequality and those which tend toward greater equality A systematic examination of the interaction between class structures social stratification and ethnic differentiation this book sheds light on the manner in which the resulting social structures produce different levels of economic inequality offering a fivefold typology of patterns of ethnic stratification which can be applied to present day world regions Drawing on the work of Max Weber to provide a rigorous investigation of inequality around the world it demonstrates what sociology as a science of social reality can significantly contribute to our understanding of global economic stratification The book is relevant for a wide social scientific audience particularly for sociologists economists and political scientists working in a comparative perspective Electoral Politics in Africa since 1990 Jaimie Bleck, Nicolas van de Walle, 2019 First comprehensive analysis of electoral politics in Sub Saharan Africa since the democratic transitions of the early 1990s Leadership and the Problem of Electoral Democracy in Africa E. Ike Udogu, 2016-12-14 This volume explores the notion that African leaders are fundamentally responsible for electoral malfeasance throughout the continent The quagmire of fixing elections in order to stay in power ad infinitum has frequently led and will continue to lead to political violence civil wars internal displacement of citizens international refugee crises and economic malaise with its attendant crisis of underdevelopment This book provides five case studies selected from Anglophone Francophone and Lusophone Africa that illustrate some variations and similarities in the dilemma of electoral democracy in this epoch of Africa's democratic experiment It suggests among other factors Colin Powell's and Abraham Lincoln's theoretical templates as pointers for African political chiefs in their struggle for democratic consolidation a successful move that could advance national legitimacy and political stability critical for impressive development in this millennium The Politics of Institutional Failure in Madagascar's Third Republic Richard R. Marcus, 2016-02-10 Madagascar's constitution of August 19 1992 brought hope to a population exhausted by economic failures associated with a failed experiment in scientific socialism and years of mismanagement. The repetition of transparent elections and the promulgation of good governance in the years that followed appeared to serve as an indicator of institutional strengthening and by extension progress. Unfortunately a broader institutional analysis points toward a series of shocks to the political system by way of legal but highly detrimental juridical and constitutional shifts to the system. These shocks were meant to serve particularized political networks with long clientalistic roots and were made possible by the narrow vision of institutionalism that did not take careful stock of those networks or the leaders at the top of them. Little effort was made to look beyond a legislature brought in by careful elections but producing legislation serving individuals the ways in which inchoate political parties distort institutional outcomes and the potential for institutionalization the weakness of civil society to offer opportunities for popular engagement or the use of donor funded decentralization programs to build ministries that served as powerful and rapid proxies for leadership centralization. By the time the celebrated president Marc Ravalomanana was overthrown in March 2009 it became clear that there were few opportunities to seed political opposition and such limited space between individual leaders and primary institutions of public management that critical state functions immediately began to unravel. In this book the author considers the institutions of the Third Republic how they formed and why they looked like models for democratic change before turning to consider how the institutions themselves have been manipulated in plain sight by leaders looking to champion their own networks. He concludes that the rise of the Fourth Republic in 2010 did little to address these underlying concerns and argues that a new agenda is in order to consider not just the way in which institutions form but the way in which networks of power and leaders at the top of those networks grow and change malleable institutions in young democracies with few avenues of accountability Comparative Constitutional Law in Africa

Rosalind Dixon, Tom Ginsburg, Adem Abebe, 2022-12-06 This timely book is a crucial resource on the rich diversity of African constitutional law making a significant contribution to the increasingly important field of comparative constitutional law from a historically understudied region. Offering an examination of substantive topics from multiple jurisdictions it emphasises issues of local importance while also providing varied perspectives on common challenges across the continent.
