After The Good Friday Agreement Analysing Political Change In Northern Ireland:

The Long Road to Peace in Northern Ireland Marianne Elliott, 2007-01-01 The ratification of the Good Friday Agreement in 1998 was the culmination of a lengthy and contentious peace process that involved the efforts of a committed team of political actors In 2001 Marianne Elliott brought together a collection of essays by many of these pivotal figures in The Long Road to Peace in Northern Ireland an invaluable resource for students scholars and politicians Now Elliott one of the most prominent chroniclers of Irish history presents a fully updated edition with new essays commissioned to explore the events of the past five years A period that saw successes such as the decommissioning of the Provisional IRA but also a rise in drug trafficking and organized crime as a generation of men who have done nothing other than serve as paramilitaries are now finding their skills most valued as criminals With contributions from U S Senator George J Mitchell Sir David Goodall Jan Egeland Lord Owen and Peter Mandelsohn the second edition of The Long Road to Peace in Northern Ireland is an illuminating record of the ongoing peace process and its consequences told by the people directly involved in its evolution

After the Good Friday Agreement Joseph Ruane, Jennifer Todd, 1999 This is an account of the impact of the Good Friday Agreement in Northern Ireland The contributors analyse the changes and continuities which went into the making of the it and provide an understanding of the processes of making and implementing it Lessons from the Northern Ireland Peace Process Timothy J. White, 2013 This book incorporates recent research that emphasizes the need for civil society and a grassroots approach to peacebuilding while taking into account a variety of perspectives including neoconservatism and revolutionary analysis The contributions which include the reflections of those involved in the negotiation and implementation of the Good Friday Agreement also provide policy prescriptions for modern conflicts

Ulster Unionism and the Peace Process in Northern Ireland C. Farrington, 2015-12-04 The politics of Ulster Unionism is central to the success or failure of any political settlement in Northern Ireland This book examines the relationship between Ulster Unionism and the peace process in reference to these questions Religion, Identity and Politics in Northern Ireland Claire Mitchell, 2017-03-02 Has conflict in Northern Ireland kept political dimensions of religion alive and has religion played a role in fuelling conflict Conflict in Northern Ireland is not and never will be a holy war Yet religion is more socially and politically significant than many commentators presume In fact religion has remained a central feature of social identity and politics throughout conflict as well as recent change There has been an acceleration of interest in the relationship between religion identity and politics in modern societies Building on this debate Claire Mitchell presents a challenging analysis of religion in contemporary Northern Ireland arguing that religion is not merely a marker of ethnicity and that it continues to provide many of the meanings of identity community and politics In light of the multifaceted nature of the conflict in Northern Ireland Mitchell explains that for Catholics religion is primarily important in its social and institutional forms whereas for many Protestants its theological and ideological dimensions are more pressing Even those who no longer go to church tend to reproduce religious stereotypes of them and us Drawing on a range of unique interview material this book traces how individuals and groups in Northern Ireland have absorbed religious types of cultural knowledge belonging and morality and how they reproduce these as they go about their daily lives Despite recent religious and political changes the author concludes that perceptions of religious difference help keep communities in Northern Ireland socially separate and often in conflict with one another

The Peacebuilding Elements of the Belfast Agreement and the Transformation of the Northern Ireland Conflict Cornelia Albert, 2009 The aim of this book is to analyse whether the implementation of the peacebuilding elements of the Belfast Agreement contributed to the transformation of the protracted Northern Ireland Conflict Therefore this book deals with the following sections of the Agreement Rights Safeguards and Equality of Opportunity Decommissioning Security Policing and Justice and Prisoners The author comes to the conclusion that the majority of the peacebuilding elements contributed to the transformation of the Northern Ireland Conflict The results of the study were obtained in conducting interviews in consulting surveys and in studying reports and other relevant literature on the recent developments in Northern Ireland

Politics of Northern Ireland Joanne McEvoy, 2008-03-25 The political scene in Northern Ireland is constantly evolving This book reflects the most recent changes and synthesises some of the best thinking on the subject It provides an overview of the politics of Northern Ireland including detailed coverage of the institutional structure under the Good Friday Agreement and an evaluation of how the institutions operated in practice Opening with the historical context and discussion of the nature of the conflict the standpoints of unionism nationalism loyalism and republicanism are explored The evolution of political initiatives since the 1970s is traced leading to the peace process of the 1990s and culminating in the Good Friday Agreement in 1998 The period of devolution in Northern Ireland 1999 2002 is evaluated and the book concludes with coverage of political developments post suspension paying particular attention to the on going debate on changes to the Agreement and the prospects for power sharing

The Territorial Management of Ethnic Conflict John Coakley, 2004-08-02 The object of this book is to look at the manner in which states attempt to cope with ethnic conflict through territorial approaches This revised edition has new chapters covering Northern Ireland South Africa and Yugoslavia

The Politics of Trauma and Peace-Building Cillian McGrattan, 2015-10-23 In marked contrast to literary historical and cultural studies there has been a limited engagement with the concepts and politics of trauma by political science and peacebuilding research This book explores the debate on trauma and peacebuilding and presents the challenges for democratization that the politics of trauma present in transitional periods It demonstrates how ideas about reconciliation are filtered through ideological lenses and become new ways of articulating communal and ethno nationalist sentiments Drawing on the work of Jacques Rancière and Iris Marion Young and with specific reference to the Northern Irish transition it argues for a shift in focus from the representation of trauma towards its reception and calls for a more substantive approach to the study of democracy and post conflict peacebuilding This text will be of interest to scholars and students of peace and conflict studies ethnic and nationalism studies transitional justice studies gender studies Irish politics nationalism and ethnicity

The Troubles in Ballybogoin William F. Kelleher, Jr., 2010-02-09 A fascinating exploration of how social memory serves to hinder communication and foster disorder in Northern Ireland British Government Policy in Northern Ireland, 1969-2000 Michael Cunningham, 2001-08-10 This work provides a comprehensive introduction to British government policy in Northern Ireland It looks at policy in four related areas constitutional security economic and social offering an overview of the questions of continuity and bipartisanship in British policy The State and the Nations Robert Hazell, 2000 This text charts the asymmetry and instability of New Labour's constitutional settlement and records changes in public attitudes and national identity The book covers Scotland Wales Northern Ireland England intergovernmental regions Westminster and the London assembly It covers the first year of devolution in the UK bringing together the work of a five year research programme funded by the Leverhulme Trust The programme comprises 11 research projects that bring out the dynamics of devolution The book also looks at the tensions which have emerged in Wales and Northern Ireland the growing demand in Westminster for English votes on English Laws and the machinery created by Whitehall to manage devolution from the centre

Elements of Peacemaking Revolutions Sapir Handelman, 2021-09-24 Intractable conflict is a protracted violent and long time struggle wherein generation after generation is socially conditioned to continue fighting To break the chain of destruction a revolutionary peacemaking process is required This book serves as an introduction to the study of peacemaking revolutions which are necessary to build a peaceful and well functioning society in desperate intractable conflict situations The challenge of peacemaking revolution is to turn opposing parties into a peacemaking community A peacemaking community offers political platforms to involve the different societal elements of the opposing parties in the struggle for change It offers a consensus building process that approaches the conflict from different sides dimensions and directions This book provides a fresh perspective to the study of destructive social conflicts their transformation and resolution It will serve to provoke a critical discussion among those who are interested in the new emerging study of peacemaking revolutions Peace-Building and Development in Guatemala and Northern Ireland C. Reilly, 2008-12-22 This book analyzes the implementation of peace processes in Northern Ireland and Guatemala with emphasis on the role of mid level civil society and religious organizations or the voluntary sector Both countries interrupted years of conflict signed peace accords in 1998 and 1996 respectively and still struggle to make them work Despite very different economic development levels both countries have colonial legacies deep cultural divisions and engaged diaspora They grapple with violence poverty and inequitable distribution of wealth and power While religious differences are a backdrop to violence and reconciliation in both cases insecurity and inequity are the root cause and consequence of these conflicts The book summarizes lessons learned and makes policy recommendations for more civil post conflict societies arguing that similar dynamics fuel sustainable peace building and authentic development

The Routledge Handbook of

Ethnic Conflict Karl Cordell, Stefan Wolff, 2016-01-22 A definitive global survey of the interaction of ethnicity nationalism and politics this handbook blends rigorous theoretically grounded analysis with empirically rich illustrations to provide a state of the art overview of the contemporary debates on one of the most pervasive international security challenges today Fully updated for the second edition the book includes a new section which offers detailed analyses of contemporary cases of conflict such as in Ukraine Kosovo the African Great Lakes region and in the Kurdish areas across the Middle East thus providing accessible examples that bridge the gap between theory and practice The contributors offer a 360 degree perspective on ethnic conflict from the theoretical foundations of nationalism and ethnicity to the causes and consequences of ethnic conflict and to the various strategies adopted in response to it Without privileging any specific explanation of why ethnic conflict happens at a particular place and time or why attempts at preventing or settling it might fail or succeed The Routledge Handbook of Ethnic Conflict enables readers to gain a better insight into such defining moments in post Cold War international history as the disintegration of the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia and their respective consequences the genocide in Rwanda and the relative success of conflict settlement efforts in Northern Ireland By contributing to understanding the varied and multiple causes of ethnic conflicts and to learning from the successes and failures of their prevention and settlement the Handbook makes a powerful case that ethnic conflicts are neither unavoidable nor unresolvable but rather that they require careful analysis and thoughtful and measured responses Critical Issues in Peace and Conflict Studies

Thomas Matyók, Jessica Senehi, Sean Byrne, 2011-05-19 Peace and Conflict Studies PCS includes scholars and practitioners throughout the world working in peace studies conflict analysis and resolution conflict management appropriate dispute resolution and peace and justice studies They come to the PCS field with a diversity of ideas approaches disciplinary roots and topic areas which speaks to the complexity breadth and depth needed to apply and take account of conflict dynamics and the goal of peace Yet a number of key concerns and dilemmas continue to challenge the field Critical Issues in Peace and Conflict Studies Theory Practice and Pedagogy edited by Thomas Maty k Jessica Senehi and Sean Byrne is a collection of essays that explores a number of these issues providing a means by which academics students and practitioners can develop various methods to confront the complexity of contemporary conflicts Critical Issues in Peace and Conflict Studies discusses the emerging field of PCS and suggests a framework for the future development of the field and the education of its practitioners and academics The book has a wide audience targeting students at the undergraduate graduate and post graduate levels It also extends to those working in and leading community conflict resolution efforts as well as humanitarian aid workers

The Europeanization of Party Politics in Ireland, North and South Katy Hayward, Mary Murphy, 2013-10-31 Ireland's relationship with the European Union has been determined by the behaviour actions and discourse of political parties This book examines this impact through an in depth analysis of the Europeanization of party politics in the Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland First it presents original research on cross cutting issues that have featured in political debates about

European integration including referendum campaigns on EU treaties Irish neutrality and party policy positions on the EU Secondly it is the first book of its kind to examine in detail how each of the main parties on the island of Ireland has adapted to EU membership In doing so it both tests the thesis of Europeanization and deepens understanding of the impact that EU membership can have on national and sub national party politics What this study reveals is that while Europeanization is clearly evident in all parties in Ireland including those most critical of European integration its influence has been strictly curtailed We argue that the effects of Europeanization in Irish party politics have been limited by enduring resistance to and conditions placed upon EU influence in particular policy areas the importance of pragmatism and sub national priorities in shaping parties approaches to European integration and the fact that engagement with the EU continues to be a predominantly elite led process This book was published as a special issue of Irish Political Studies

The European Union and Border Conflicts Thomas Diez, Mathias Albert, Stephan Stetter, 2008-03-27 It is generally assumed that regional integration leads to stability and peace This book is a systematic study of the impact of European integration on the transformation of border conflicts It provides a theoretical framework centred on four pathways of impact and applies them to five cases of border conflicts Cyprus Ireland Greece Turkey Israel Palestine and various conflicts on Russia's border with the EU The contributors suggest that integration and association provide the EU with potentially powerful means to influence border conflicts but that the EU must constantly re adjust its policies depending on the dynamics of each conflict Their findings reveal the conditions upon which the impact of integration rests and challenge the widespread notion that integration is necessarily good for peace This book will appeal to scholars and students of international relations European politics and security studies studying European integration and conflict analysis

Human Rights, Equality and Democratic Renewal in Northern Ireland Colin Harvey, 2001-03 The Good Friday Agreement of 1998 or Belfast Agreement promises the people of Northern Ireland a fresh start underpinned by guarantees on human rights equality and participation Scholars from Ireland and England examine developments in Northern Ireland stemming from the Agreement and identify key themes in the current law and politics of Northern Ireland Topics discussed include Northern Ireland and the European Union the role of the Northern Ireland Human Rights Commission and policing in Northern Ireland Harvey teaches constitutional and human rights law at the University of Leeds Distributed by ISBS c Book News Inc
