Re-thinking

Mediations of Post-truth Politics and Trust Jayson Harsin, 2023-12-29 This collection reaches beyond fake news and propaganda misinformation and charismatic liars to explore the lesser publicized cultural forms and practices that serve as a cultural infrastructure for post truth society and politics Situating post truth in specific contexts as a site of contestation or crisis the book critically explores it as a dynamic and shifting site around which political and cultural practices in specific contexts revolve and overlap Through a breadth of perspectives the volume considers a number of overlapping cultural and political developments across varying national and transnational contexts changing technologies and practices of cultural production that sometimes shift and at other times reproduce authority of traditional institutional truth tellers seismic cultural changes in representations values and roles regarding gender sexuality race and historical memory about them as well as corresponding reactionary discourses in the culture wars questions of authenticity honesty and power relations that combine many of the former shifts within an all encompassing culture of self promotional attentional capitalism These considerations lead scholars to focus on corresponding shifting cultural dynamics of popular truth telling and dis trust making that inform political culture In this more global view post truth becomes foremost an influentially anxious public mood about the struggles to secure or undermine publicly accepted facts This nuanced and insightful collection will interest scholars and students of communication studies media and cultural studies media ethics journalism media literacy sociology anthropology philosophy and politics

Body Genre David Scott Diffrient, 2023-11-27 In this groundbreaking work author David Scott Diffrient explores largely understudied facets of cinematic horror from the various odors permeating classic and contemporary films to the wetness sliminess and stickiness of these productions which he argues practically scream out for a tactile mode of textural analysis as much as they call for more traditional forms of textual analysis Dating back to Carol Clover s and Linda Williams s pioneering work on horror cinema film scholars have long conceptualized this once disreputable category of cultural production as a body genre However despite the growing recognition that horror serves important biological and social functions in our lives scholars have only scratched the surface of this genre with regard to its affective corporeal and sensorial appeals Diffrient anatomizes horror films in much the same way that a mad scientist might handle the body separating and recombining constitutive parts into a new analytical whole Further he challenges the tendency of scholars to privilege human over nonhuman beings and calls into question ableist assumptions about the centrality to horror films of sight and sound to the near exclusion of other forms of sense experience In addition to examining the role that animals living or dead real or fake play in human centered fictions this volume asks what it means for audiences to consume motion pictures in which actors stunt performers and other creative personnel have put their own bodies and lives at risk for our amusement Historically grounded and theoretically expansive Body Genre Anatomy of the Horror Film moves the study of cinematic horror into previously uncharted waters and breathes life into a subject that not coincidentally is intimately connected to breathing as our most cherished dividing line between life and death The Deployment Toolkit Janelle B. Moore, Don Philpott, 2016-07-08 Deployment comes in many forms and serves many purposes Any separation from loved ones is an emotionally difficult time for all concerned especially when children are involved but separation is now a modern day military reality Those unfamiliar with the military may not understand the nuances of short term versus long term deployments Those that do rarely gain exposure to successful strategies for handling deployments when family such as young children disabled or other special circumstances are also involved As a result military families must learn to adapt to long distance relationships as well as how to adjust and positively cope with separations for various training deployments and real life exercises The Deployment Toolkit Military Families and Solutions for a Successful Long Distance Relationship covers the basic challenges military families may face before during and after deployment At times the added stresses of military life often make things seem overwhelming Luckily the military is a huge family with scores of support groups both official and unofficial to help families prepare for separation and the stresses associated with the long absences Janelle Moore and Don Philpott provide an easily accessible self help guide to dealing with and understanding deployment The authors identify the different types of separations and deployments emotional adjustments involved and resources available to families in the military The Deployment Toolkit is essential reading for those families who need a guide through the modern day reality of military deployment and separation New Generation Communication: Die

Kommunikation in einer veränderten Welt Vidya Allemann-Ravi, 2025-05-30 Communication of the new generation is upon us It was not long ago that the idea of remote working or of machine learning seemed like futuristic endeavors Yet now the prospect of using various communication technologies to work for us has never been more feasible We are navigating connected ecosystems and using data technologies and algorithms to keep pace with an ever shifting business world This volume focuses on the impact of communication in a changing world on society and business cultures The issues that are raised by the authors of this volume range from exploring how language and technology interact in the workplace environment to considering the use of generative technologies and artificial intelligence in marketing and advertising While the authors showcase a diversity of disciplinary and methodological approaches they are united in their underlying belief that communication in a changing world is by and large a facilitator of dialogue and is powered by interactions and expansive cross disciplinary conversations
