Brett Cox,2021-05-11 Challenging convention with the SF nonconformist Roger Zelazny combined poetic prose with fearless literary ambition to become one of the most influential science fiction writers of the 1960s Yet many critics found his later novels underachieving and his turn to fantasy a disappointment F Brett Cox surveys the landscape of Zelazny s creative life and contradictions Launched by the classic 1963 short story A Rose for Ecclesiastes Zelazny soon won the Hugo Award for Best Novel with And Call Me Conrad and two years later won again for Lord of Light Cox looks at the author s overnight success and follows Zelazny into a period of continued formal experimentation the commercial triumph of the Amber sword and sorcery novels and renewed acclaim for Hugo winning novellas such as Home Is the Hangman and 24 Views of Mt Fuji by Hokusai Throughout Cox analyzes aspects of Zelazny s art from his preference for poetically alienated protagonists to the ways his plots reflected his determined individualism Clear eyed and detailed Roger Zelazny provides an up to date reconsideration of an often misunderstood SF maverick Weird Tales 296 (Spring 1990) Darrell Schweitzer,1990-03-01 The Spring 1990 issue of Weird Tales showcases the work of David J Schow Featured Author and Janet Aulisio Featured Artist who contributed all the art in the issue Also includes work by Tad Williams and Harry Turtledove Discourses and Narrations in the Biosciences Brian Hurwitz,Paola Spinozzi,2011

All the Wonder that Would Be Stephen Webb,2017-05-03 It has been argued that science fiction SF gives a kind of weather forecast not the telling of a fortune but rather the rough feeling of what the future might be like The intention in this book is to consider some of these bygone forecasts made by SF and to use this as a prism through which to view current developments in science and technology In each of the ten main chapters dealing in turn with antigravity space travel aliens time travel the nature of reality invisibility robots means of transportation augmentation of the human body and last but not least mad scientists common assumptions once made by the SF community about how the future would turn out are compared with our modern understanding of various scientific phenomena and in some cases with the industrial scaling of computational and technological breakthroughs A further intention is to explain how the predictions and expectations of SF were rooted in the scientific orthodoxy of their day and use this to explore how our scientific understanding of various topics has developed over time as well as to demonstrate how the ideas popularized in SF subsequently influenced working scientists Since gaining a BSc in physics from the University of Bristol and a PhD in theoretical physics from the University of Manchester Stephen Webb has worked in a variety of universities in the UK He is a regular contributor to the Yearbook of Astronomy series and has published an undergraduate textbook on distance determination in astronomy and cosmology as well as several popular science books Reading by Starlight Damien Broderick,2005-06-29 Reading by Starlight explores the characteristics in the writing marketing and reception of science fiction which distinguish it as a genre Damien Broderick explores the postmodern self referentiality of the sci fi narrative its intricate coded language and discursive encyclopaedia

He shows how for perfect understanding sci fi readers must learn the codes of these imaginary worlds and vocabularies all the time picking up references to texts by other writers Reading by Starlight includes close readings of paradigmatic cyberpunk texts and writings by SF novelists and theorists including Isaac Asimov Arthur C Clarke Brian Aldiss Patrick Parrinder Kim Stanley Robinson John Varley Roger Zelazny William Gibson Fredric Jameson and Samuel R Delaney

Nuclear Fictions Michael Gardiner,2024-11-30 In this book Michael Gardiner suggests that the conception of the war ending weapon was tied up with a longer commitment to unified space and singular progress The mission for total weapons can be seen rising with the highly technical defensive war of the later nineteenth century and passing through twentieth century atomic research then the targeting of the outsides of commercial empire and the post war consensus with deterrence as its foundation The end of the Cold War brought an opportunity to fully naturalise deterrence but also brought a tacit acceptance of nuclear violence while forms of violence against the individual were rigorously sought out If the world unifying role of deterrence has always been undermined by the rise of rival empires it has also been questioned by critical communities including the consensus sceptics of the 1950s 60s 1980s 90s Nuclear Criticism and readers of nuclear ism millennial campaigns for Scottish independence and twenty first century descriptions of nuclear colonialism Recently it has become more obvious that an Anglosphere concept of worldly deterrence was bound to a singular and ultimately nihilistic idea of progress bio Michael Gardiner is Professor in the Department of English and Comparative Literature at the University of Warwick

How to Live Forever Stephen R L Clark,2008-01-28 Immortality is a subject which has long been explored and imagined by science fiction writers In his intriguing new study Stephen R L Clark argues that the genre of science fiction writing allows investigation of philosophical questions about immortality without the constraints of academic philosophy He reveals how fantasy accounts of issues such as resurrection disembodied survival reincarnation and devices or drugs for preserving life can be used as an important resource for philosophical inquiry and examines how a society of immortals might function through a reading of the vampire myth How to Live Forever is a compelling study which introduces students and professional philosophers to the possibilities of using science fiction in their work It includes extensive suggestions for further reading both fictional and philosophical and examines the work of such major science fiction authors as Arthur C Clarke Frank Herbert Larry Niven William Gibson and Colin Wilson
