

The background of the book cover is a dark, atmospheric photograph of a forest. Tall, slender trees with bare branches frame a path that leads into the distance. A person, seen from behind, is walking away from the viewer down the path. The lighting is dim, with a soft glow emanating from the path ahead. On the right side, there are some blurred, warm-toned leaves, possibly from a tree with autumn foliage. The overall mood is mysterious and somber.

Owen has given up her day job and resigned herself to a life of playground moms and soiled clothing until the day she runs into Claire Masterson. Claire was the girl at school Maggie always wanted to be and surprise surprise it's as if nothing has changed. Claire still has everything and Maggie's life as the mother of two young boys is utter chaos. But when it seems that Claire knows a little too much about Maggie's boyfriend Jake, Maggie starts thinking the unthinkable and the lengths to which she goes to uncover the truth and regain her confidence throw her life and her relationship with Jake for a loop. Funny, smart, and self-deprecating, this propulsive novel questions what our choices mean and whether we ever actually grow up.
