NAMES: Emmalie, Zaynab, Sumayah

Working in your collaborative group discussion your individual responses to Part A-C of the case study and record your revised/complete answers below. Your responses will be graded on whether they are thoughtful and accurate regarding information about cellular respiration.

A. THE SYMPTOMS: In 1982, over the course of several days several people died in the Chicago area of suspiciously similar causes. The first was a 12-year-old girl. Her parents said that she was awake in the middle of the night complaining of a stuffy nose and sore throat. They gave her an extra strength Tylenol and sent her back to bed. At 7am the next morning, the parents discovered that the girl had collapsed on the bathroom floor. An ambulance rushed the girl to a nearby hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

That same day, paramedics found the second victim unconscious on his kitchen floor after what they thought was an apparent heart attack. Sadly, the victim's brother and fiancée also collapsed later that night while the family gathered to mourn his passing. Both had taken Tylenol to help them cope with their loss shortly before collapsing; neither survived. In the next four days, three similar deaths were reported, all in the same neighborhood and all with similar symptoms.

All victims experienced headaches and subsequently complained of dizziness, confusion, head ache, nausea, vomiting, and shortness of breath/rapid breathing before they died a few hours later.

1. Are there any similarities or connections between these seven individuals?

All seven shared the same symptoms, had Tylenol linked with their case, lived close to each other, and passed away so suddenly.

2. What questions would you want to ask the families?

How and when did the patients take Tylenol? What were the doses?

Where was the evidence of Tylenol thrown?

3. In your opinion, based on the given information, are these seven deaths connected? Why or why not?

Yes, since they had so many similarities, linked with the same medication, were close to each other, and had the same symptoms.

B. AUTOPSY REPORT: The autopsy report comes back listing the immediate cause of death as hypoxia (lack of oxygen). Tissues examined all showed massive cell death, and staining with specific dyes showed major mitochondrial damage of affected tissues. Finally, oxygen levels in the patients' blood were approximately 100 mmHg (normal range is 75-100mmHg).

1. Given the information from the autopsies, what function do you think was interrupted in the victim's cells and why?

I think that the mitochondria's ability to produce ATP was interrupted due to the damage. ATP supplies cells with energy to carry out their processes.
