Reflection

Abe and Bev both look in a plane mirror directly in front of Abe (left, top view). Abe can see himself while Bev cannot see herself—but can Abe see Bev, and can Bev see Abe? To find the answer we construct their artificial locations “through” the mirror, the same distance behind as Abe and Bev are in front (right, top view). If straight-line connections intersect the mirror, as at point C, then each sees the other. The mouse, for example, cannot see or be seen by Abe and Bev.

Here we have eight students in front of a small plane mirror. Their positions are shown in the diagram below. Make appropriate straight-line constructions to answer the following:

Who can Abe see?	Eva, Flo, Guy, Han	Who can Abe not see?	Abe-Don
Who can Bev see?	Don-Han	Who can Bev not see?	Abe-Cis
Who can Cis see?	Cis-Han	Who can Cis not see?	Abe, Bev
Who can Don see?	Bev-Guy	Who can Don not see?	Abe, Han
Who can Eva see?	Abe-Flo	Who can Eva not see?	Guy, Han
Who can Flo see?	Abe-Eva	Who can Flo not see?	Flo, Guy, Han
Who can Guy see?	Abe-Don	Who can Guy not see?	Eva-Han
Who can Han see?	Abe, Bev, Cis	Who can Han not see?	Don-Han

Creativity in Social Revolutions Bronislaw Czarnocha, 2025-08-23 This book offers a new perspective on the structure of contemporary social revolutions and wars. It analyzes the actions of the participants and looks at possible solutions from the perspective of bisociativity. The book elaborates on this concept originally formulated by Arthur Koestler which sees the underlying human creativity in finding a solution as a spontaneous leap of insight connecting previously unconnected matrices of discourse. Drawing from Marxist theory the author discerns bisociative frames in contemporary revolutions such as the Bolivian revolution of 2000 2003 2005 or between different uprisings in Poland which led to the independent workers union solidarity. One of the central aims of the book is the search for a bisociative frame that includes historical materialism as one of its two components. It suggests that historical materialism is not a sufficient but necessary condition for understanding the complexity of contemporary struggles. Discussions in different chapters point to the missing component of Marxist revolutionary theory individual self identity as the second component of the bisociative frame. The author brings this analysis to the table from his background in mathematics education and teaching and points to how using mathematical generalization may help identify bisociative frames and therefore help find innovative solutions to conflicts. This book offers an innovative theoretical framework for current problems from a Marxist perspective and is an interesting read for social scientists historians and anyone critically examining contemporary social revolutions or wars.

Writing on the Wall Philip Van Notten, 2005 Although the significance of 9 11 is subject to debate it is symbolic of a general sentiment of discontinuity whereby society is vulnerable to undefined and highly disruptive events. Recent catalysts of this sentiment are eye catching developments such as the SARS Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome and bird flu outbreaks the Enron and Parmalat scandals political assassinations in Sweden and the Netherlands regime changes in Iraq and Afghanistan and terrorist attacks in Bali Istanbul Madrid and various parts of the Middle East. However recent discontinuities should not be seen as evidence that discontinuities occur more frequently now than they did before. Looking back in history we see that disruptive processes are common. For example 25 years ago few Europeans would have predicted the upcoming upheavals on their own continent the collapse of communism Berlin as the capital of a reunited Germany the wars in the former Yugoslavia the single European currency and the near doubling of the number of European Union member states. Changes elsewhere have been no less discontinuous and unforeseen the fall of the Asian tigers the emergence of the Internet and mobile telecommunication and the presidency of Nelson Mandela. Societal discontinuity is a relatively new area of concern in policy development. Since the 1970s the consideration of change and discontinuity has gained some ground over predictive forecasting which tended to reason from continuous developments and linear processes. Rather than making forecasting the future it has become popular to use scenarios as a manner to consider several possible futures. Scenarios are coherent descriptions of alternative hypothetical futures that reflect different perspectives on past present and future developments which can serve as a basis for action Scenario development aims to combine analytical knowledge with creative thinking in an effort to capture a wide range of possible future developments in a limited number of outlooks Scenario development assumes that the future is uncertain and the directions in which current developments might range from the conventional to the revolutionary In theory scenario development is a way to consider future discontinuity However there are indications that the theoretical promise is not reflected in scenario practice Research has shown that scenarios do not consider the idea of discontinuity as a matter of course In our research we found that a scenario study would benefit from efforts to create and foster a culture of curiosity for exploring the future and the possible discontinuities rather than simply commissioning a scenario study to provide insights about the future Only then can one read the writing on the wall of future developments advancing knowledge from other disciplines This assumption was debunked with the knowledge that nurses were always engaged in knowledge development driven by their experiences in clinical practice Because of these assumptions most of the early writing about theory development was about outlining strategies that should be used rather than strategies that have already been used in the discipline to develop theories Theorists themselves did not uncover or adequately discuss ways by which they developed their theories therefore the tendency was to describe processes that were based on theories developed in other disciplines mainly the physical and social sciences And an implicit assumption was made that there should be a single strategy for theory development some claiming to begin the process from practice and others believing it should be driven by research Provided by publisher A Practical Guide to Early Childhood Studies Graduate Practitioner Competencies Aaron Bradbury, Jackie Musgrave, Helen Perkins, 2023-06-14 This book brings you case studies as examples of good practice demonstrating all of the Graduate Practitioner Competencies GPCs Cumulated Index Medicus ,1969
