The UK's foreign policy approach to Afghanistan and Pakistan Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Foreign Affairs Committee,Richard Ottaway,2011-03-02 In this report the Foreign Affairs Committee calls on the British Government to use its influence to persuade the US to engage more fully and swiftly with the process of political reconciliation in Afghanistan if the US wishes to disengage its forces there Although the current international emphasis favours intense military pressure aimed at defeating the insurgency it is clear that military pressure alone is not enough to bring security and stability to Afghanistan The evidence presented to the Committee has suggested that the current full scale and highly intensive ISAF counter insurgency campaign is not succeeding The Committee question the fundamental assumption that success in Afghanistan can be bought through a strategy of clear hold and build The distinction between al Qaeda and the Taliban is crucial to generating appropriate policy responses in Afghanistan The Committee says that despite the significant resources that have been invested in Afghanistan and the enduring wholehearted and admirable commitment and sacrifices of British personnel the UK has not yet achieved its stated goals There is also evidence that the core foreign policy justification for the UK s continued presence in Afghanistan namely that it is necessary in the interests of UK national security may have been achieved some time ago given the apparently limited strength of al Qaeda in Afghanistan The security rationale behind the UK Government s decision to announce the 2015 deadline for the unconditional withdrawal of UK combat forces remains unclear and there are a number of potential risks inherent in such an approach

Indonesia International Monetary Fund. Monetary and Capital Markets Department,2018-03-12 This paper reviews observance of Insurance Core Principles in Indonesia Insurance regulation and supervision have been remarkably improved since the establishment of the Financial Services Authority OJK and the enactment of the new Insurance Law However the assessment has identified a significant number of shortfalls in observance with the Insurance Core Principles Some deficiencies are owing to the lack of effective group regulation and supervision of insurance groups Although OJK has implemented regulations related with risk management and group capital intragroup transactions are not well taken into account It is recommended that OJK should improve the effectiveness of supervision Thematic reviews of reserving practices will encourage more conservative reserving
