January 2009 marked the 25th anniversary of one of the most famous three minutes of television history It was during half time of the 1984 Super Bowl that APPLE show cased its new Macintosh Computer in an avant guard commercial In the following three weeks sales of the new computer in both the public and private sectors took off leading some to note this occasion as the true start of the information age At the same time schools joined this so called information revolution and began to use the new technology in various forms in a much more serious manner Given both the changing nature of technology as well as its classroom applications over the past quarter century this work s goal is to capture the historical trends of both use and application of information technology in the social studies during this era This is done by providing a retrospective view from 1984 through 2009 of where we've been where we are and a view of new tools and strategies and possible studies that are emerging that can enhance our understanding of the effects that technology has and will have on the social studies Success and

Failure in Israeli Elementary Education Abram Minkowich, Dan Deyá¹ is, Joseph Bashi, This book presents a comprehensive evaluation study of elementary education in Israel conducted over several years and completed in 1977 The study concentrates on Jewish schools but some data are presented from parallel studies in the Arab Schools A notable feature of the study is its unusually large scope both in size and content It sampled nearly ten percent of Jewish schools and fifteen percent of Arab schools The content includes a great variety of areas cultural origins home conditions and socialization patterns of pupils conditions and practices in schools teachers and principals backgrounds and their attitudes toward central issues in education pupils personality characteristics and motivations related to school experience their learning abilities and achievements in five major school subjects Special emphasis is given to the disadvantaged pupils and an examination of the problem of equality of educational opportunity This study's uniqueness lies in a novel approach in the measurement and analysis of scholastic achievements Like all studies in the psychometric tradition it places pupils in a position related to an advantaged pupil group But test construction and most data analyses were carried out by the criterion reference approach combined with a notion of master learning This enabled presentation of the absolute achievement level of a pupil or a pupil group vis a vis the optimal and minimal requirements of the curriculum and each school subject as well as for its various content area This approach permits much more than the traditional methods utilization of results for deliberation and revision in educational policies This applies particularly to curriculum construction and methods of instruction It may also lead to a more appropriate definition of the disadvantaged pupil Five chapters of the study present a historical review and sociological analysis of the problems of Israeli education and deal with specific methodological considerations The twelve following chapters present detailed results and analysis for each topic of investigation Comprehensive Curriculum of
