Beyond The Looking Glass Narcissism And Female Stardom In Studio Era Hollywood:

Beyond the Looking Glass Ana Salzberg, 2014-08-01 As living subjects rather than static icons studio era Hollywood actresses actively negotiated a balance between their public personas film roles and corporeal presence The contemporary audience's engagement with the experience of these actresses unsettles the traditional model of narcissistic identification which divides the off screen spectator from his/her on screen ideal Exploring the fan's desire for a material connection to the performer as well as the star's own dialogue between embodied experience and idealized image Beyond the Looking Glass traces on and off screen representations of narcissistic femininity in classical Hollywood through studies of stars like Greta Garbo Ava Gardner and Marilyn Monroe Merging historical and theoretical concerns with particular attention to the resonance of golden age Hollywood in new media this book explores the movie screen as a medium of shared experience between spectator and star The Routledge Companion to American Film History Pamela Robertson Wojcik, Paula J.

Gestures of Love Steven Rybin, 2017-05-24 Examines movie romance in light of our emotional bond to the actors and characters on screen Gestures of Love considers the viewer's enchantment with charismatic actors in film as the starting point for closely analyzing the performance of love in movies Written with a thoughtful adoration for the actors who move us Steven Rybin examines several of cinema's most beloved on screen movie couples including Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant Myrna Loy and William Powell Carole Lombard and John Barrymore Gene Tierney and Dana Andrews Lauren Bacall and Humphrey Bogart and Rock Hudson and Dorothy Malone Using the classical genres of screwball comedy film noir and the family melodrama as touchstones Rybin places the depiction of romance in films into dialogue with the viewer's own emotional bond to the actors on the screen In doing so he offers rich new analyses of such classic films as Bringing Up Baby The Thin Man Twentieth Century Laura To Have and Have Not Tea and Sympathy Written on the Wind and more Steven Rybin's Gestures of Love presents a compelling series of close readings focused on cinematic performances from the classical Hollywood era a series of readings that not only function independently but also build and reflect on one another as the text moves forward Engagingly written and unapologetically driven by the author's own pleasures the text will appeal to readers interested in cinephilia actors in performance and classical Hollywood more generally David T Johnson author of Richard Linklater Gestures of Love is the first book to explore issues of stardom and performance through the lens of cinephilia studies Steven Rybin astutely demonstrates how a star couple's performance of love may be refracted through a viewer's love of performance Lucid and invigorating this book reconsiders celebrated duos from Hepburn and Grant to Bogart and Bacall to Hudson and Malone as well as the evolution of love in classical Hollywood Rashna Wadia Richards author of Cinematic Flashes Cinephilia and Classical Hollywood

The Femme Fatale Julie Grossman, 2020-09-18 Ostensibly the villain but also a model of female power poise and intelligence the femme fatale embodies Hollywood's contradictory attitudes toward ambitious women But how has the figure of the femme fatale evolved over time and to what extent have these changes reflected shifting cultural attitudes toward female independence and sexuality This book offers readers a concise look at over a century of femmes fatales on both the silver screen and the TV screen Starting with ethnically exoticized silent film vamps like Theda Bara and Pola Negri it examines classic film noir femmes fatales like Barbara Stanwyck in Double Indemnity as well as postmodern revisions of the archetype in films like Basic Instinct and Memento Finally it explores how contemporary film and television creators like Fleabag and Killing Eve's Phoebe Waller Bridge have appropriated the femme fatale in sympathetic and surprising ways Analyzing not only the films themselves but also studio press kits and reviews The Femme Fatale considers how discourses about the pleasures and dangers of female performance are projected onto the figure of the femme fatale Ultimately it is a celebration of how bad girl roles have provided some of Hollywood's most talented actresses opportunities to fully express their on screen charisma

Robert Taylor Gillian Kelly, 2019-06-27 Because of his lengthy screen resume that includes almost eighty appearances in such movies as Camille and Waterloo Bridge as well as a marriage and divorce to actress Barbara Stanwyck Robert Taylor was a central figure of Hollywood's classical era Despite this he can be regarded as a lost star an interesting contradiction given the continued success he enjoyed during his lifetime In Robert Taylor Male Beauty Masculinity and Stardom in Hollywood author Gillian Kelly investigates the initial construction and subsequent developments of Taylor's star persona across his thirty five year career By examining concepts of male beauty men as object of the erotic gaze white American masculinity and the unusual longevity of a career initially based on looks Kelly highlights how gender masculinity and male stars and the ageing process affected Taylor's career Placing Taylor within the histories of both Hollywood's classical era and mid twentieth century America this study positions him firmly within the wider industrial cultural and socioeconomic contexts in which he worked Kelly examines Taylor's film and television work as well as ephemeral material such as fan magazines to assess how his on and off screen personas were created and developed over time Taking a mostly chronological approach Kelly places Taylor's persona within specific historical moments in order to show the complex paradox of his image remaining consistently recognizable while also shifting seamlessly within the

Hollywood industry Furthermore she explores Taylor's importance to Hollywood cinema by demonstrating how a star persona like his can fit so well and for so long that it almost becomes invisible and eventually almost forgotten You Play The Girl Carina Chocano, 2017-08-08 We all know who The Girl is She holds The Hero's hand as he runs through the Pyramids chasing robots Or she nags him or foils him plays the uptight straight man to his charming loser She's idealised degraded dismissed objectified and almost always dehumanised How do we process these insidious portrayals and how do they shape our sense of who we are and what we can become Part memoir part cultural commentary part call to arms to women everywhere You Play The Girl flips the perspective on the past thirty five years in pop culture from the progressive 70s through the backlash 80s the triumphalist 90s and the pornified bro culture of the early twenty first century providing a firsthand chronicle of the experience of growing up inside this funhouse Always incisive Chocano brilliantly shows that our identities are more iterative than we think and certainly more complex than anything we see on any kind of screen

Produced by Irving Thalberg Ana Salzberg, 2020-05-01 Drawing on archival sources this is the first book to explore Thalberg's insights into casting editing story composition and the importance of the mass audience from a theoretical perspective Scoring the Hollywood Actor in the 1950s Gregory Camp, 2020-12-30 Scoring the Hollywood Actor in the 1950s theorises the connections between film acting and film music using the films of the 1950s as case studies Closely examining performances of such actors as James Dean Montgomery Clift and Marilyn Monroe and films of directors like Elia Kazan Douglas Sirk and Alfred Hitchcock this volume provides a comprehensive view of how screen performance has been musicalised including examination of the role of music in relation to the creation of cinematic performances and the perception of an actor's performance The book also explores the idea of music as a temporal vector which mirrors the temporal vector of actors voices and movements ultimately demonstrating how acting and music go together to create a forward axis of time in the films of the 1950s This is a valuable resource for scholars and researchers of musicology film music and film studies more generally Film Genres in Hungarian and Romanian Cinema Andrea Virginás, 2021-04-22 Film Genres in Hungarian and Romanian Cinema History Theory and Reception discusses how the Hungarian and Romanian film industries show signs of becoming a regional hub within the Eastern European canon a process occasionally facilitated by the cultural overlap through the historical province of Transylvania Andrea Virgin's employs a film historical overview to merge the study of small national cinemas with film genre theory and cultural theory and posits that Hollywood originated classical film genres have been important fields of reference for the development of these Eastern European cinemas Furthermore Virgin's argues that Hungarian and Romanian genre films demonstrate a valid evolution within the given genre's standards and thus need to be incorporated into the global discourse on this subject Scholars of film studies Eastern European studies cultural studies and history will find this book particularly useful Some Kind of Mirror Amanda Konkle, 2019-02-04 Although she remains one of the all time most recognizable Hollywood icons Marilyn Monroe has seldom been ranked among the greatest actors of her generation Critics have typically viewed her film roles as mere extensions of her sexpot star persona Yet this ignores both the subtle variations between these roles and the acting skill that went into the creation of Monroe s public persona Some Kind of Mirror offers the first extended scholarly analysis of Marilyn Monroe s film performances examining how they united the contradictory discourses about women s roles in 1950s America Amanda Konkle suggests that Monroe s star persona resonated with audiences precisely because it engaged with the era s critical debates regarding femininity sexuality marriage and political activism Furthermore she explores how Monroe drew from the techniques of Method acting and finely calibrated her performances to better mirror her audience s anxieties and desires Drawing both from Monroe s filmography and from 1950s fan magazines newspaper reports and archived film studio reports Some Kind of Mirror considers how her star persona was coauthored by the actress the Hollywood publicity machine and the fans who adored her It is about why 1950s America made Monroe a star but it is also about how Marilyn defined an era

Beyond the Looking Glass Ana Salzberg, 2010 Linking the images of stars as contrasting as Bette Davis Marilyn Monroe and Gloria Swanson and uniting genres like romantic comedy

film noir and melodrama the figure of the narcissistic woman stands as a versatile ever present extra and intra diegetic force in the dream factory of classical Hollywood She is in fact the lead in what sociologist Edgar Morin conceptualizes in The Stars 1957 as a golden age myth of love Calling upon the psychic and sensory investment of her fans with her otherworldly aura and material impact the female star emerges as both the active subject of romantic narratives and the admired on screen partner in a love affair with the spectator Like Ovid's original Narcissus before her the narcissistic woman of Hollywood exists as Morin describes it to focus love's magic on herself Contemporary film theory however has interpreted the star not as a subjective force in this dialogical magic between actress and spectator but rather as the product of a patriarchal system of filmmaking one that objectifies women both on the screen and in the audience In an effort to further analyze the questions of identity and representation evoked by the female star and her audience this thesis will seek an alternative to the binaries that tend to characterize the traditional understanding of women in classic Hollywood that is spectator star narcissistic subject idealized object male female active passive Rather than read narcissism as a one dimensional monologic preoccupation with one's image this research posits that classic cinematic representations of the woman's relationship to the self invite an examination of the existential complexity of a figure negotiating the registers of corporeal reality and ethereal ideality star persona and diegetic character In the hopes of highlighting the active engagements between star and role spectator actress and filmic form itself inspired by these cinematic entities and their myths of love this work will connect psychoanalytic concerns with Edgar Morin's cultural history of Hollywood Laura U Marks's theory of haptic visuality and the phenomenological understanding of film outlined by Vivian Sobchack in an exploration of the embodied subjectivities borne by the on screen Narcissus and her off screen audience
