Between Mecca And Beijing Modernization And Consumption Among Urban Chinese Muslims:

Between Mecca and Beijing Maris Boyd Gillette, 2000 Between Mecca and Beijing examines how a community of urban Chinese Muslims uses consumption to position its members more favorably within the Chinese government's official paradigm for development. Residents of the old Muslim district in the ancient Chinese capital of Xi'an belong to an official minority, the Hui nationality, that has been classified by the state as backward in comparison to China's majority Han population. Though these Hui urbanites like the vast majority of Chinese citizens accept the assumptions about social evolution upon which such labels are based, they actively reject the official characterization of themselves as less civilized and modern than the Han majority. By selectively consuming goods and adopting fashions they regard as modern and non-Chinese, which include commodities and styles from both the West and the Muslim world, these Chinese Muslims seek to demonstrate that they are capable of modernizing without the guidance or assistance of the state. In so doing, they challenge one of the fundamental roles the Chinese Communist government has claimed for itself: that of guide and purveyor of modernity. Through a detailed study of the daily life, eating habits, dress styles, housing, marriage, and death rituals, religious practices, education, family organization of the Hui inhabitants of Xi'an, the author explores the effects of a state-sponsored ideology of progress on an urban Chinese Muslim neighborhood.

The Consumer Revolution in Urban China Deborah Davis, 2000-01-20 This wide-ranging collection of essays by leading sociologists on the new consumerism of post-economic reform China is an important contribution to our understanding of Chinese society and culture.

Chinese Muslims and the Global Ummah Alexander Stewart, 2016-07-01 The global spread of Islamic movements and the ascendancy of a Chinese state that limits religious freedom have aroused anxieties about integrating Islam and protecting religious freedom around the world. Focusing on violent movements like the so-called Islamic State and Uyghur separatists in China's Xinjiang Province, threatens to drown out the alternatives presented by apolitical and inwardly focused manifestations of transnational Islamic revival popular among groups like the Hui, China's largest Muslim minority. This book explores how Muslim revivalists in China's Qinghai Province employ individual agency to reconcile transnational notions of religious orthodoxy with the materialist rationalism of atheist China. Based on a year immersed in one of China's most concentrated and conservative urban Muslim communities in Xining, the book puts individuals' struggles to navigate theological controversies in the contexts of global Islamic revival and Chinese modernization. By doing so, it reveals how attempts to revive the original essence of Islam can empower individuals to form peaceful and productive articulations with secular societies and further suggests means of combatting radicalization and encouraging interfaith dialogue. As the first major research monograph on Islamic revival in modern China, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Anthropology, Islamic Studies, and Chinese Studies.

Muslim Transnationalism in Modern China Hale Eroğlu, 2025-04-01 In the early twentieth century, as the multiethnic Qing empire transformed into the Republican Chinese nation-state, Chinese Muslims faced new challenges.

confronting competing visions of nation building religion secularism democracy and modernity In this book Hale Ero lu explores how a group of key figures navigated this complex landscape offering a transnational intellectual history of Chinese Muslim thought Muslim Transnationalism in Modern China provides a portrait of underrecognized reformists who aimed to turn Muslim subjects into active Chinese citizens and revive true Islam in order to aid China s development and promote peace Ero lu examines reformists engagement with local and transnational Muslim currents spanning orthodox heterodox reformist secular and socialist movements from Egypt Britain India Turkey and the Soviet Union She reveals their varied strategies and highlights how they adapted global ideas to address local challenges such as the policies of the Nationalist and Communist parties the antireligion discourse of the New Culture Movement and the anti Islam rhetoric of Christian missionaries Drawing from Republican and early Communist era journals Chinese translations of Islamic sources and memoirs and travelogues this book offers a nuanced understanding of Chinese speaking Muslim intellectuals efforts to balance local and global influences in shaping their community s future

Mission Strategy in the City Enoch

Jinsik Kim,2017-11-07 This book was written to suggest an appropriate mission strategy by identifying key issues that impact urban ethnicities through an urban socioanthropological lens This book is based on the author s sixteen years of living in China where he conducted missionary work in urban areas The book discusses the author s interactions with enclaves of ethnic minorities who had recently arrived in the city after migrating from rural areas The minorities struggles to balance cultural assimilation and tradition preservation are highlighted throughout The book explains that similar phenomena occur within Korean American communities in Los Angeles as well Based on these observations the author states that immigrants in many cities face similar social issues and find similar resolutions to them Though there are many negative aspects to urban areas readers will see some positive features of cities that can contribute to effective evangelism The book highlights three main points 1 Ethnic urban dwellers evolve into many more diverse ways than commonly thought 2 Ethnic groups are actively choosing the future of their community types 3 Modern cities create many new communication channels interethnically and also across social strata within ethnicities

Where the Past meets the Future Leah Cheung Ah

Li,2019 Xi an the former Chang an home to the terracotta army and capital to 13 dynasties of Chinese emperors experienced World Heritage fame in 1987 when the Mausoleum of the First Qin Emperor was listed In 2014 five more heritage sites in Xi an were listed as part of the Silk Roads World Heritage nomination The ancient capital represents glorious moments of Chinese history and local citizens are proud of Xi an s archaeological and historical status However the modern cityscape is as much shaped by high rises as by historical buildings and heritage policies intersect with demands for urbanization modernization and economic growth This book seeks to understand how modernity history and heritage are reconciled in this city where the past meets the future

The Lahu Minority in Southwest China Jianxiong Ma,2013-05-07

The Lahu with a population of around 470 000 inhabit the mountainous country in Yunnan Province bordering on Burma Laos and northern Thailand Buddhists with a long history of resistance to the Chinese Han majority the Lahu are currently facing a serious collapse of their traditional social system with the highest suicide rate in the world large scale human trafficking of their women alcoholism and poverty This book based on extensive original research including long term anthropological research among the Lahu provides an overview of the traditional way of life of the Lahu their social system culture and beliefs and discusses the ways in which these are changing It shows how the Lahu are especially vulnerable because of their lack of political representatives and a state educated elite which can engage with and be part of the government administrative system The Lahu are one of many relatively small ethnic minorities in China overall the book provides an example of how the Chinese government approaches these relatively small ethnic minorities

Living with Separation in China Charles

Stafford,2003-09-02 First Published in 2004 Separation for example the process of leaving behind temporarily or permanently individuals to whom we are attached is something experienced by humans in all societies In the case of China the rituals and practices associated with separation and with its corollary reunion are especially elaborate They are crucial elements within the Chinese cultural tradition In addressing through the use of case studies the central theme of separation this book also provides a good general introduction to many of the classic debates within anthropological and historical analyses of China It will therefore prove an interesting and useful resource to students of Asian studies and anthropology as well as the general reader with an interest in the Chinese cultural tradition The Panthay Rebellion David G.

Atwill,2024-12-10 The Panthay Rebellion of 1856 1873 held the armies of the Qing dynasty at bay for nearly two decades This account by David Atwill offers a remarkable panorama of the cosmopolitan frontier society from which the rebellion sprang The rebel leader Du Wenxiu took the name of Sultan Suleiman established a Muslim court at the ancient city of Dali and sought to unite the population against Manchu rule with considerable success at a time when the Qing faced threats in all parts of the empire Atwill offers the first detailed account of Du s seventeen year rule and upturns a historiography that filters the Panthay Rebellion through the political and military lenses of the Chinese centre The insurrection was not rooted solely in Hui hatred of the Han Chinese he argues nor was it primarily Islamic in orientation Atwill draws out the multitudinous complexities of Yunnan Province China s most ethnically diverse region and a crossroads for Tibetan Chinese and Southeast Asian culture The Panthay Rebellion was the last of a series of mid century Chinese revolts to be suppressed Its downfall marked the beginning of a renewed offensive by the imperial government to control its border regions and influence the cultures of those who lived there The Art of Symbolic Resistance Joanne N. Smith Finley,2013-09-12

Against the background of the r mchi riots July 2009 this book provides a longitudinal study of contemporary Uyghur identities and Uyghur Han relations Previous studies considered China s Uyghurs from the perspective of the majority Han state or people Conversely The Art of Symbolic Resistance considers Uyghur identities from a local perspective based on interviews conducted with group members over nearly twenty years Smith Finley rejects assertions that the Uyghur ethnic group is a creation of the Chinese state suggesting that contemporary Uyghur identities involve a complex interplay between long standing intra group socio cultural commonalities and a more recently evolved sense of common enmity towards the Han This book advances the discipline in three senses from a focus on sporadic violent opposition to one on everyday symbolic resistance from state to local representations and from a conceptualisation of Uyghurs as victim to one of creative agent Islam and Asia Chiara Formichi,2020-05-07 An accessible transregional exploration of how Islam and Asia have shaped each other s histories societies and cultures from the seventh century to today

Power Tiffany Cone, 2018-05-08 Islam and China are topics of relevance and contention in today's economic, political, and religious climate. In this work, Tiffany Cone makes an important contribution to these contemporary discourses through an ethnographic case study of Islamic leadership and the cultivation of charismatic power by Sufi disciples at a shrine site in Northwest China. Though this volume focuses on a specific religious community, it carries valuable insights into religious unity, syncretism, and religious legitimacy, materialism, and religious integrity, and the stability of religious institutions in light of rapid economic growth. Cultivating Charismatic Power speaks to global concerns about the rise of a militant Islam and an increasingly aggressive Chinese State. As such, it will appeal to scholars and practitioners across a range of fields including anthropology, philosophy, religious studies, Islamic Studies, and Chinese Studies. Shanghai Rising Xiangming Chen, 2009 Until around 1990, Shanghai was China's premier but sluggish industrial center. Now, at the beginning of the twenty-first century, the joint impact of global forces and state power has turned Shanghai into a dynamic megacity. This collection places the city's unprecedented rise in a rare comparative examination of U.S. cities as well as with Asian megacities, Singapore, and Hong Kong, providing a nuanced account of how Shanghai's politics, economy, society, and space have been transformed by macro and micro-level forces.
