MICHEL HOUELLEBECQ

The Elementary Particles By Michel Houellebecq

Daniela Carpi

The Elementary Particles By Michel Houellebecq:

The Elementary Particles Michel Houellebecq, 2001-11-13 An international literary phenomenon The Elementary Particles is a frighteningly original novel part Marguerite Duras and part Bret Easton Ellis that leaps headlong into the malaise of contemporary existence Bruno and Michel are half brothers abandoned by their mother an unabashed devotee of the drugged out free love world of the sixties Bruno the older has become a raucously promiscuous hedonist himself while Michel is an emotionally dead molecular biologist wholly immersed in the solitude of his work Each is ultimately offered a final chance at genuine love and what unfolds is a brilliantly caustic and unpredictable tale Translated from the French by Frank Wynne

Michel Houellebecq and the Literature of Despair Carole Sweeney, 2013-11-21 Widely acknowledged as an important if highly controversial figure in contemporary literature French novelist and poet Michel Houellebecq has elicited diverse critical responses In this book Carole Sweeney examines his novels as a response to the advance of neoliberalism into all areas of affective human life This historicizing study argues that le monde houellebecquien is an atomised society of banal quotidian alienation populated by quietly resentful men who are the botched subjects of late capitalism Addressing Houellebecq's handling of the failure of the radical thought of 68 Sweeney looks at the ways in which his fiction treats feminism the decline of religion and the family as well as the obsolescence of French theory and the Sartrean notion of engaged literature Reading the world with the disappointed idealism of a contemporary moralist Houellebecq's novels Sweeney argues fluctuate between despair for the world as it is and a limp utopian hope for a post humanity

Michel Houellebecq, the Cassandra of Freedom, 2021-11-15 On 7 January 2015 the day of the murderous attack on the offices of the Paris satirical weekly Charlie Hebdo the cover of the current issue showed a drunken Michel Houellebecq in a wizard's cap making two prophecies In 2016 I will lose my teeth In 2022 I will observe Ramadan Houellebecq had previously described Islam as the stupidest of religions But on that day as terrorists sought to bring the justice of Islam to blasphemers for whom Michel Houellebecq was insufficiently anti Islamic Houellebecq's novel Submission depicting the democratic conquest of France by the Muslim Brotherhood was published by Flammarion In this collection an international cast of authorities on politics and literature discuss the meaning and unprecedented impact of Michel Houellebecq's Submission

Atomised Michel Houellebecq, 2011-11-30 Half brothers Michel and Bruno have a mother in common but little else Michel is a molecular biologist a thinker and idealist a man with no erotic life to speak of and little in the way of human society Bruno by contrast is a libertine though more in theory than in practice his endless lust is all too rarely reciprocated Both are symptomatic members of our atomised society where religion has given way to shallow new age philosophies and love to meaningless sexual connections Atomised tells the stories of the two brothers but the real subject of the novel is the dismantling of contemporary society and its assumptions its political incorrectness and its caustic and penetrating asides on everything from anthropology to the problem pages of girls magazines A dissection of modern lives and loves By turns funny acid infuriating didactic touching and visceral The History of Emotions Jan Plamper,2015 The history of emotions is one of the fastest growing fields in current historical debate and this is the first book length introduction to the field synthesizing the current research and offering direction for future study The History of Emotions is organized around the debate between social constructivist and universalist theories of emotion that has shaped most emotions research in a variety of disciplines for more than a hundred years social constructivists believe that emotions are largely learned and subject to historical change while universalists insist on the timelessness and pan culturalism of emotions In historicizing and problematizing this binary Jan Plamper opens emotions research beyond constructivism and universalism he also maps a vast terrain of thought about feelings in anthropology philosophy sociology linguistics art history political science the life sciences from nineteenth century experimental psychology to the latest affective neuroscience and history from ancient times to the present day Platform Michel Houellebecq,2016-09-01 From the author of cult favourite Atomised Reading Houellebecq is like being caught up in a tropical storm you are blown away by the ferocity of his imagination Observer Michel is a civil servant at the Ministry of Culture When his father is murdered Michel takes a leave of absence to go on a package tour to Thailand Infuriated by the shallow hypocrisy and mediocrity of his fellow travellers only the awkward Valerie attracts his attention Too bashful to pursue her Michel prefers the uncomplicated pleasures of Thai massage parlours and sex with local women Back in Paris he calls Valerie and they plunge into a passionate affair which strays into S M partner swapping and sex in public Michel quits his job and tries to help Valerie and her boss Jean Yves in their ailing travel business by offering travel packages based on sex tourism in the third world When their project comes to fruition and the three return to Thailand Michel discovers that sex is neither the most consuming nor the most dangerous of human passions With Atomised you could see that Houellebecq was headed for greatness With Platform he has attained it The book is a stunning achievement Evening Standard The Oxford Handbook of Schopenhauer Robert L. Wicks,2020 This collection of thirty one essays encompasses Schopenhauer s central contributions his influences and the scope of his impact especially on the arts and philosophy Six sections cover the wide range of his thought including its connection to religion ethics and art as well as his influence and legacy SpatioTemporalities on the Line Sebastian Dorsch,Jutta Vinzent,2017-11-20 Lines are omnipresent in our everyday experience and language They reflect and influence the spatial and temporal structures of our world view Taking Tim Ingold s cultural history of the line as a starting point this book understands lines as expressions that allow insights into cultural theoretical phenomena and thus go beyond their mere form The essays will investigate this premise from various disciplines architecture art cartography film literature and philosophy War on the Human Konstantinos Blatanis,Theodora Tsimpouki,2017-05-11 The essays in this collection explore the question of the human both as a contested concept and as it relates to and functions within the wider global conjuncture The authors explore the theoretical underpinnings of the term human inviting the reader to reflect upon the contemporary human condition to identify opportunities and threats in the changes ahead and to determine what aspects of our species we should abandon or strive to maintain. The volume approaches these ideas from a myriad of perspectives but the authors are united in their abstention from rejecting humanism outright or indeed fully endorsing posthumanism's teleological narrative of accelerated progress and perfectability. Instead the authors argue that the term human itself is better understood as a concept perpetually undergoing revision and is necessarily subject to scrutiny. The contributors here are thus concerned with investigating the following questions: What does it mean to be human or to have a self? What is the current place or status of the human in the contemporary world? As technology is increasingly used to modify our bodies and minds to what extent should we alter and how can we improve our very understanding of human nature? The authors contend that literature is the art form best placed to answer these questions. In its dynamism and discursiveness literature has the capacity to both reflect dominant discourses and ideologies as well as to generate and even anticipate social change to critique and refine conventional ideas and existing cultural modes and to envision new possibilities for the future. The human and its literary representation in other words are inherently intertwined.

Bioethics and Biolaw through Literature Daniela Carpi, 2011-10-27. In recent years the well established field of human anthropology has been put under scrutiny by the new data offered by science and technology. Scientific intervention into human life through organ transplants, euthanasia, genetic engineering, experiments connected to the genetic code and the genome and varied other biotechnologies have placed ethical beliefs into question and created ethical dilemmas. These scientific inventions influence our views on birth and death, on the construction of the body and its technical reproducibility and have problematized the concept of the human persona. The purpose of bioethics, the science of life, is to find new values and norms which will be valid for a multicultural society. Bioethics is today a well respected topic of research that has brought together philosophers and experts to discuss the limits of science and medicine. The aim of this book is to merge the two fields of bioethics and law or biolaw through the literary text by taking into consideration the transformations of the concept of persona at which we have nowadays arrived. The new meaning of the term persona represents in fact the final point of a long standing quest for man's sense of his own being and human dignity and of his capacity to live in social interrelations. The volume presents a wide range of perspectives comprising methodological approaches, legal and literary aspects.

Futurability Franco Berardi, 2017-05-23. We live in an age of impotence. Stuck between global war and global finance, between identity and capital, we seem to be incapable of producing that radical change that is so desperately needed. Is there still a way to disentangle ourselves from a global order that shapes our politics as well as our imagination? In his most systematic book to date, renowned Italian theorist Franco Berardi Bifo tackles this question through a solid yet visionary analysis of the three fundamental concepts of Possibility, Potency, and Power. Overcoming any temptation of giving in to despair or nostalgia, Berardi proposes the notion of Futurability as a way to remind us that even within the darkness of our current crisis still lies dormant the horizon of possibility.

Science Fiction

and Computing David L. Ferro, Eric G. Swedin, 2011-09-29 The prevalence of science fiction readership among those who create and program computers is so well known that it has become a cliché but the phenomenon has remained largely unexplored by scholars What role has science fiction played in the actual development of computers and computing And likewise how has computing including the related fields of robotics and artificial intelligence affected the course of science fiction The 18 essays in this critical work explore the interrelationship of these domains over the span of more than half a century

Physicists on Wall Street and Other Essays on Science and Society Jeremy Bernstein, 2008-11-02 Over the years Jeremy Bernstein has been in contact with many of the world's most renowned physicists and other scientists many of whom were involved in politics literature and language In this diverse collection of essays he reflects on their work their personal relationships their motives and their contributions Even for those people he writes about that he did not know personally he provides important insights into their lives and work and questions their character their decisions and the lives they led In the first three essays Professor Bernstein looks at economic theory and how some physicists who developed interesting economic models based on derivatives and hedge funds almost led the country into bankruptcy In later essays he discusses a suspect visit to Poland by the great Heisenberg during the Nazi era a visit that there is almost nothing written about Included also are essays on ancient languages and a nuclear weapons program in South Africa that was supposedly dismantled In one particularly humorous essay he describes how an ill conceived manned spaceship to be powered by an atomic bomb was being developed by some of the country's most powerful intellects The project never got off the ground Dipping into these pages is like rummaging around in the mind of a genius who has a potpourri of interests and an abundance of fascinating experiences Bernstein has not only rubbed elbows with some of the finest minds in world he has worked and played with them He has sometimes mourned with them and laughed at them His sharp wit and even sharper analysis make for a fascinating read

Nothing Sacred

Stathis Gourgouris, 2024-05-07 Nothing Sacred makes a bold call for reconceptualizing the projects of humanism and democracy as creative sources of emancipatory meaning from the immediate political sphere to the farthest reaches of planetary ways of living. Restaging Aristotle's classic notion of the political animal in broad historical and geographical frames, Stathis Gourgouris explores the autopoietic capacities of human being in society while developing new frameworks of anticolonial humanism and radical democracy as the only worthy adversaries of neoliberal capitalism. This reconfigured anthropological horizon enables us to imagine new ways of living by learning to pursue a radical politics of autonomy and a planetary vision that upholds life-affirming coexistence and equal sharing against the fetishism of hierarchy and servitude, money and technologic sovereignty and endless growth. Written with daring erudition and anarchic contestation, this book seeks the political through a poetic perspective. Nothing Sacred rejects niche thinking in the academy and engages a vast domain of reflections on the problem of human being in today's dismal world. Contemporary Fiction and Science from Amis to McEwan

Rachel Holland, 2019-04-26 This book identifies in contemporary fiction a new type of novel at the interface of science and the humanities, working from the premise that a shift has taken place in the relations between the two cultures in the last two or three decades. As popular science comes to assume an ever greater cultural significance, contemporary authors are engaging in new ways with ideas that it disseminates. A new literary phenomenon is emerging in which the focus on language-based theories of the self and the world that has been predominant in the latter half of the previous century is making way for a renewed commitment to the material facts both of human existence and the universe beyond subjectivity. The book analyses the work of Martin Amis, William Boyd, David Lodge, Richard Powers, Michel Houellebecq, Jonathan Franzen, Margaret Atwood, and Ian McEwan, revealing the ways in which these third culture novels negotiate the relationship between literature and science. Maps and Territories

Joshua Armstrong, 2019 The rapidity of postwar globalization and the structural changes it has brought to both social and spatial aspects of everyday life has meant in France, as elsewhere, the destabilizing of senses of place, identity and belonging as once familiar local environments are increasingly de-localized and made porous to global trends and planetary preoccupations. Maps and Territories identifies such preoccupations as a fundamental underlying impetus for the contemporary French novel. Indeed, like France itself, the protagonists of its best fiction are constantly called upon to renegotiate their identity in order to maintain any sense of belonging within the troubled territories they call home. Maps and Territories reads today's French novel for how it re-maps such territories and for how it positions its protagonists vis-à-vis the pressures of globalization, uncovering previously unseen affinities amongst and offering fresh readings of and offering exciting new perspectives on a diverse set of authors, namely Michel Houellebecq, Chloé Delaume, Lydie Salvayre, Jean-Philippe Toussaint, Virginie Despentes, Philippe Vassetz, Jean Rolin, and Marie Darrieussecq. In the process, it sets the literary works into dialogue with a range of today's most influential theorists of postmodernity and globalization, including Paul Virilio, Marc Augé, Peter Sloterdijk, Bruno Latour, Fredric Jameson, Edward Casey, David Harvey, and

Ursula K Heise Novels by Aliens Kate Marshall, 2023-10-10

Twenty first century fiction and literary study have taken a decidedly weird turn they show a marked interest in the nonhuman and in the preternatural moods that the nonhuman often evokes Writers of fiction and criticism are avidly experimenting with strange even alien perspectives and protagonists Kate Marshall's Novels by Aliens explores this development broadly while focusing on problems of genre fiction She identifies three key generic hybrids that harness a longing for the nonhuman The Old Weird an alternative tradition within naturalism and modernism for the twenty first century's cowboys and aliens Cosmic Realism the reach for words legible only from space in otherwise terrestrial narratives and Pseudoscience Fiction which imagines speculative futures beyond human life on earth Marshall's book offers sharp and surprising insights about a breathtaking range of authors from Edgar Rice Burroughs to Kazuo Ishiguro Willa Cather to Maggie Nelson
