Psychotherapy and the Treatment of Cancer Patients Lawrence Goldie, Jane Desmarais, 2013-04-03 Psychotherapy and the Treatment of Cancer Patients addresses the need for a more integrated care of cancer patients within hospitals which pays attention to the mental anguish as well as physical distress caused by the disease This book is based on Lawrence Goldie's own research with cancer patients which has shown that psychoanalytic psychotherapy together with general medical care can significantly help dying patients cope with the pain and suffering associated with the disease Drawing on this research the book advocates a more holistic approach to the cancer patient and suggests ways in which more expert attention might be provided through awareness training and resources The book describes the innovative approach of applying the psychoanalytic psychotherapeutic approach within the hospital context to help individuals cope with cancer As well as an overview of cancer and the therapeutic approach topics covered include the impact of cancer on hospital relationships cancer in different areas of the body and mind mind bending pain dread and trauma on being told the truth psychoanalytic psychotherapy in the NHS general hospital examining group processes in hospital Psychotherapy and the Treatment of Cancer Patients challenges the existing orthodoxies about palliative care and points to ways in which the principles and methods of psychoanalysis can be applied successfully to cancer care within the hospital context

A Weary Road Mark Osborne Humphries, 2018-01-01 More than 16 000 Canadian soldiers suffered from shell shock during the Great War of 1914 to 1918 Despite significant interest from historians we still know relatively little about how it was experienced diagnosed treated and managed in the frontline trenches in the Canadian and British forces How did soldiers relate to suffering comrades Did large numbers of shell shock cases affect the outcome of important battles Was frontline psychiatric treatment as effective as many experts claimed after the war Were Canadians treated any differently than other Commonwealth soldiers A Weary Road is the first comprehensive study to address these important questions Author Mark Osborne Humphries uses research from Canadian British and Australian archives including hundreds of newly available hospital records and patient medical files to provide a history of war trauma as it was experienced treated and managed by ordinary soldiers

Changing War Gary Sheffield, Peter Gray, 2013-10-24 In 1918 the British Expeditionary Force BEF played a critical role in defeating the German army and thus winning the First World War

This Hundred Days campaign August to November 1918 was the greatest series of land victories in British military history 1918 also saw the creation of the Royal Air Force the world's first independent air service from the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Naval Air Service Until recently British histories of the First World War have tended to concentrate on the earlier battles of 1916 and 1917 and often underplayed this vitally important period Changing War fills this significant gap in our knowledge by providing in depth examinations of key aspects of the operations of the British Army the Royal Air Force and its antecedents in the climactic year of the First World War Written by a group of established historians and emerging scholars it sheds light not only on 1918 but on the revolutionary changes in warfare that took place at that time The

Ethnographer's Eye Anna Grimshaw, 2001-04-30 Grimshaw's exploration of the role of vision within modern anthropology engages with current debates about ocularcentism investigating the relationship between vision and knowledge in ethnographic enquiry Using John Berger's notion of ways of seeing the author argues that vision operates differently as a technique and theory of knowledge within the discipline In the first part of the book she examines contrasting visions at work in the so called classical British school reassessing the legacy of Rivers Malinowski and Radcliffe Brown through the lens of early modern art and cinema In the second part of the book the changing relationship between vision and knowledge is explored through the anthropology of Jean Rouch David and Judith MacDougall and Melissa Llewelyn Davies Vision is foregrounded in the work of these contemporary ethnographers focusing more general questions about technique and epistemology whether image based media are used or not in ethnographic enquiry Transactions of the Royal

Q. Hunter, Imelda Whelehan, 2001-09-20 The contributors to Retrovisions consider what happens to history in the movies

Focusing on films and texts from the 1950s to the 1990s the contributors argue that the past has always come to us by way of previous texts and culturally bounded aesthetic categories and that history films to the despair of historians have always taken a postmodern approach to their subject seeing the past as a dynamic resource for exciting stories and poetic morally uplifting untruths Why do certain decades appeal at certain times And what does the renewal of interest in narrative history reveal about our culture at the start of the new millennium The authors address the variety of ways in which history can be used refashioned and made over to reflect current concerns and how history films from the past can be reinterrogated to learn what they tell us about their own times The films discussed include Elizabeth Shakespeare in Love Culloden The Avengers Titus and several adaptations of Les Liaisons Dangereuses including Cruel Intentions Willia Cather and Others Jonathan Goldberg,2001-02-13 Queer theory employed in a sympathetic reading of Cather in all her complexity and in relation to several of her contemporaries Holocaust Fiction Sue Vice,2003-09-02 Examining the controversies that have accompanied the publication of novels representing the Holocaust this compelling book explores such literature to analyze their violently mixed receptions and what this says about the ethics and practice of millennial Holocaust literature The novels examined including some for the first time are Time s Arrow by Martin Amis The White Hotel by D M Thomas The Painted Bird by Jerzy Kosinski Schindler s List by Thomas Keneally Sophie s Choice by William Styron The Hand that Signed the Paper by Helen Darville Taking issue with the idea that the Holocaust should only be represented factually this compelling book argues that Holocaust fiction is not only legitimate but an important genre that it is essential to accept In a growing area of interest Sue Vice adds a new intelligent and contentious voice to the key debates within Holocaust studies The Second Battlefield Angela K. Smith,2000 This book investigates the connection between women s writing about WWI and the development of literary modernisms focusing on issues of gender which remain topical today Drawing on a wealth of unpublished diaries and letters the book examines the way in which the new roles undertaken by women triggered a search for new forms of expression Blending literary criticism and history the book contributes to the scholarship of women and expands our definition of modernisms The Oxford Encyclopedia of British Literature David Scott Kastan,2006-03-03 From folk ballads to film scripts this new five volume encyclopedia covers the entire history of British literature from the seventh century to the present focusing on the writers and the major texts of what are now the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland In five hundred substantial essays written by major scholars the Encyclopedia of British Literature includes biographies of nearly four hundred individual authors and a hundred topical essays with detailed analyses of particular themes movements genres and institutions whose impact upon the writing or the reading of literature was significant An ideal companion to The Oxford Encyclopedia of American Literature this set will prove invaluable for students scholars and general readers For more information including a complete table of contents and list of contributors please visit www.oup.com/us/eb1 Traumatic Pasts Mark S. Micale,Paul Lerner,2001-09-04 Traumatic Pasts originally published in 2001 offers a variety of perspectives on mental trauma in war medicine culture and society in modern European and American history Its primary goals are to provide a generous sampling of the best of the historical scholarship about trauma to indicate the empirical analytical and methodological scope of this work and to present some of the conceptual and methodological issues inherent in writing about the subject The book operates on the premise that the historical humanities have something crucially important to say about trauma its essays may be read in part as attempts to introduce a deep historical dimension into ongoing debates and controversies However it is important to stress that these essays are not simply addressed the concerns rather they reflect a shared conviction that trauma opens up fresh perspectives in the study of social and cultural history
