The Mammoth Book of Folk Horror Stephen Jones,2021-09-07 Welcome to a landscape of ancient evil with stories by masters of horror Arthur Machen Algernon Blackwood H P Lovecraft M R James Ramsey Campbell Storm Constantine Christopher Fowler Alison Littlewood Kim Newman Reggie Oliver Michael Marshall Smith Karl Edward Wagner and more The darkness that endures beneath the earth the disquiet that lingers in the woodland surrounding a forgotten path those ancient traditions and practices that still cling to standing stone circles earthworks and abandoned buildings elaborate rituals that invoke elder gods or nature deities the restless spirits and legendary creatures that remain connected to a place or object or exist in deep wells and lonely pools of water waiting to ensnare the unwary traveler These concepts have been the archetypes of horror fiction for decades but in recent years they have been given a name Folk Horror This type of storytelling has existed for more than a century Authors Arthur Machen Algernon Blackwood H P Lovecraft and M R James all published fiction that had its roots in the notion of the supernatural being linked to objects or places left behind All four writers are represented in this volume with powerful and hopefully unfamiliar examples of their work along with newer exponents of the craft such as Ramsey Campbell Storm Constantine Christopher Fowler Alison Littlewood Kim Newman Reggie Oliver and many others Illustrated with the atmospheric photography of Michael Marshall Smith the stories in The Mammoth Book of Folk Horror tap into an aspect of folkloric tradition that has long been dormant but never quite forgotten while the depiction of these forces as being in some way natural in no way detracts from the sense of nameless dread and escalating horror that they inspire Те, кто приходят из темноты Майкл Маршалл,2019-07-10 Mammoth Books presents The Unexpected Michael Marshall Smith,Nicholas Royle,Ramsey Campbell,Robert Shearman,Rosalie Parker,Simon Strantzas,2012-07-26 What Happens When You Wake Up in the Night Michael Marshall Smith For Michael Marshall Smith this was one of those stories that dropped straight into his head but the problem was that he didn t want it It wasn t an idea I liked It was clearly some part of my brain serving up a notion simply because it could and because it knew it could frighten me with it It did frighten me and so I did what I always do when that happens which is write it down in the hope it will go away Respects Ramsey Campbell Respects was suggested by a local incident in which a car thief in his early teens killed himself while fleeing the police recalls Campbell A lamp standard at the site of his demise is still decorated with flowers years after the incident and the tributes on the obituaries page of one Wallasey newspaper were at least as grotesque as the ones I ve invented the romanticisation of a petty criminal Cold to Touch Simon Strantzas Stories often find their origins in unexpected ways Strantzas reveals I was inspired in this case by a photograph of a Zen garden I once used as my computer's desktop background There was something there in the coldness of the photograph something that brought to mind the barren vistas of the Canadian Arctic which ended up being the perfect setting for my tale of tested faith The Reunion Nicholas Royle The Reunion is based on actual events reveals the author but the story only really came into focus for me when I was invited to contribute to Ellen Datlow's Poe anthology Poe is brilliant I was at a conference recently where a teacher revealed that she had read Poe's The Black Cat to a lecture theatre full of schoolchildren She switched off all the lights and used a torch to read by A number of parents lodged complaints which she took as a measure of the event's success My tale is inspired by a different Poe story Granny's Grinning Robert Shearman I love Christmas says Shearman Always have done and always a bit too passionately The intensity with which I loved Christmas was delightful when I was eight years old slightly unusual by the time I was eighteen and increasingly disturbing thereafter I was the last one to grow up It suddenly dawned on me one year looking into the faces of my parents and of my sister that they were all older and fatter and less and less festive And that they were trying so hard to keep me happy each Christmas pretending they wanted all those presents I'd bought all those sausage rolls and Quality Street chocs That what I was trying to do each December was somehow reach back into the past and resurrect a time that was dead that was long dead I still love Christmas But now I recognize as I still make them perform party games as I still make them open their gifts and smile and say thank you that they're zombies now All of them zombies I'll never get my childhood back again not really or the innocence of that family get together So I'll make do with the dead and pretend This is a story all about that In The Garden Rosalie Parker In the Garden was written after I challenged myself to write a horror story about gardening explains the author It emerged more quickly and easily than anything I've ever written I think of it more as a prose poem than a story Haven Mia Dalia, 2024-10-29 What if revenge ripples and echoes through time You can't choose your family or your destiny or your legacy But once upon a time a woman named Ava St James had tried to build happiness upon the remains of her broken heart For better or worse Decades later the Bakers are headed for a perfect family vacation A full month at a house by the lake the house passed down from a mysterious aunt no one ever talks about Love and good intentions aside what begins like a relaxing vacation turns into a nightmare as each of the Bakers' nerves slowly but steadily begin to wear away at the edges Is it their fraught family dynamics or is something more sinister at work The house has welcomed them but will it ever let them leave For readers who enjoy The Haunting of Hill House by Shirley Jackson Silver Nitrate by Silvia Moreno Garcia This Thing Between Us by Gus Moreno and Devil House by John Darnielle The Mammoth Book of Body Horror Marie O'Regan, Paul Kane, 2012-03-01 A gripping collection which offers for the first time a chronological overview of the popular contemporary sub genre of body horror from Edgar Allan Poe to Christopher Fowler with contributions from leading horror writers including Stephen King George Langelaan and Neil Gaiman The collection includes the stories behind seminal body horror movies John Carpenter's The Thing David Cronenberg's The Fly and Stuart Gordon's Re-Animator The Mammoth Book of Best New Horror 21 Stephen

Mammoth Books presents Monsters in Our Midst Gary Kilworth, John Langan, Michael Marshall Smith, 2012-07-26 Substitutions Michael Marshall Smith Michael Marshall Smith recalls This story came about in the simplest way the way I always enjoy most something happening in real life that makes you think What if Our household gets a lot of its food via an online delivery service and one day when I was unpacking what had just been dropped at our house I gradually realised there was something not quite right about the contents of the bags There's two things that are strange about that experience The first is that given that every household is likely to buy at least some things in common you don't realise straight away that you've been given the wrong shopping You don't immediately think This is wrong more like This is weird The second is how personal it is gaining accidental access to this very tangible evocation of some other family's life You can't help but wonder about the people the food was really destined for In real life I just called up the delivery guy and got it sorted out but in fiction you might tackle things slightly differently Out Back Garry Kilworth Out Back was written for a group of friends Kilworth recalls who appear as characters in the story under their initials as I do myself Those who know me well will recognise the protagonists Iken is a real village on the edge of the marshes behind Snape Maltings in Suffolk Two years ago I wandered along the periphery of the reed beds which stretch down towards the coast as a green and golden sea the waves created by the winds that blow across the flatlands Looking at the church that sits on a knoll above the marshes I thought This is a perfect setting for a horror story And so City of the Dog John Langan This story arose from my desire to see what I could do with the figure of the ghoul reveals Langan and as I've tried to indicate within the narrative I drew inspiration both from H P Lovecraft Pickman's Model and Caitlin R Kiernan Daughter of Hounds The miserable years in New York State's capital though were mine alone
