Peter Abelard was born in the village of Palais in Brittany. He lived in the twelfth century in the reigns of Louis the Gross and Louis the Young. His father's name was Beranger, a gentleman of a considerable and wealthy family. He took care to give his children a liberal and pious education, especially his eldest son Peter, on whom he endeavoured to bestow all possible improvements, because there appeared in him an extraordinary vivacity of wit joined with sweetness of temper and all imaginable presages of a great man. When he had made some advancement in learning, he grew so fond of his books that lest affairs of the world might interrupt his proficiency in them, he quitted his birthright to his younger brothers and applied himself entirely to the studies of Philosophy and Divinity. Of all the sciences to which he applied himself, that which pleased him most and in which he made the greatest progress was Logick. He had a very subtle wit and was incessantly whetting it by disputes out of a restless ambition to be master of his weapons. So that in a short time he gained the reputation of the greatest philosopher of his age and has always been esteemed the founder of what we call the Learning of the Schoolmen. He finished his studies at Paris, where learning was then in a flourishing condition. In this city he found that famous professor of philosophy William des Champeaux, and soon became his favourite scholar, but this did not last long. The professor was so hard put to it to answer the subtle objections of his new scholar that he grew uneasy with him. The school soon run into parties. The senior scholars transported with envy against Abelard, seconded their master's resentment. All this served only to increase the young man's presumption, who now thought himself sufficiently qualified to set up a school of his own. For this purpose he chose an advantageous place, which was the town of Melun, ten leagues from Paris, where the French court resided at that time. Champeaux did all that he could to hinder the erecting of this school, but some of the great courtiers, being his enemies, the opposition he made to it only promoted the design of his rival. Letters of Abelard and Heloise , 2018-08-15 These 12th century letters offer insights into the thinking of Abelard a prominent theologian and the spirited determination of Heloise an early feminist Outstanding modern translation by C K S Moncrieff The Love Letters of Abelard and Heloise Heloise,Abelard,2014-10-25 The Love Letters of Abelard and Heloise Translated from the original Latin and now reprinted from the edition of 1722 by Ralph Fletcher Seymour In his Historia Calamitatum an autobiographical piece written around 1132 Ab lard tells the story of his seduction of H lo se whom he met when in 1115 he himself like Fulbert became a canon in Paris It is unclear how old Heloise was at this time She is described as an adolescentula young girl and so it is often assumed that she was about seventeen at the time having been born in 1100 1 More recently however Constant Mews and subsequently David Constant have suggested that the age of seventeen is a seventeenth century fabrication with no supporting contemporary evidence and that she was probably as old as 27 at the time The main piece of evidence for this is that in a later letter Peter the Venerable writes to Heloise that he remembers her when he was a young man and she was a woman this they suggest implies that Heloise was at least as old and possibly older than Peter Given that Peter was born in 1092 it would mean that Heloise would have been nearer 27 at the time of the affair They suggest that this makes more sense of Abelard s later comment that he sought to seduce Heloise because she was the most famous woman in France for her studies because as they suggest she would have been unlikely to have acquired this reputation by the age of 17 More tentatively the extent of Heloise s accomplishment in Greek and Hebrew and her mature response to the relationship might indicate someone older than 17 Abelard tells how he convinced Fulbert to let him move into his house telling Fulbert that he could not afford to live in his current house while studying and offering to tutor Heloise in return Abelard tells of their subsequent illicit relationship which they continued until H lo se fell pregnant Abelard moved Heloise away from Fulbert and sent her to his own sister in Brittany where Heloise gave birth to a boy whom she called Astrolabe It is almost unknown what happened to Astrolabe in later life He is never mentioned by Heloise in her letters to Abelard and Abelard s only reference to him outside the Historia Calamitatum is in the verses of advice addressed to him and thought to have been written about 1135 His death day is recorded in the necrology of the Paraclete as 29 or 30 October but no year is given He is mentioned only once in a later letter when Peter the Venerable writes to Heloise I will gladly do my best to obtain a prebend in one of the great churches for your Astrolabe who is also ours for your sake The Love Letters of Abelard and Heloise Heloise,Peter Abelard,2020-01-26 H lo se was a French nun writer scholar and abbess best known for her love affair and correspondence with Peter Abelard French name Pierre Ab lard She was the daughter born of the scandalous union of Hersint of Champagne Lady of Montsoreau founder of the Fontevraud Abbey with the seneschal of France Gilbert of Garlande
