

BARBARA HEPWORTH ART & LIFE

Barbara Hepworth was a leading British abstract sculptor. Her work is characterized by its organic, flowing forms and its exploration of the relationship between the sculpture and the space it occupies. She was a member of the Bloomsbury Group and was married to the painter John Moores. Her work is often described as 'sculpture in space' and is characterized by its open, hollow forms and its use of natural materials such as stone and wood. Her most famous work is 'The Curve of Time' (1954), a large, abstract sculpture made of white stone. She also created many smaller works in wood and plaster. Her work is now held in the collections of the Tate Museum, the British Museum, and the Museum of Modern Art in New York.
