Food tasting - Get a selection of fruits and vegetables and do a tasting of them. Some of the children will be brave enough to do it blindfolded! Get them to write down in a spider diagram the way the food tastes, smells and feels. Discuss the fruits and vegetables and whether they feel they are healthy or not.

You could get them to taste the foods on the worksheet and then get them to separate them into one of your five a day. They could then draw a line down the centre of their books and draw the different foods.

What counts as my five-a-day - Use this PowerPoint to look at what counts as your five-a-day. Give the children a selection of foods in groups and get them to separate them into one of your five a day and not one of your five a day. They could then draw a line down the centre of their books and draw the different foods.

A healthy diet - Discuss as a class what food does for our body and what can happen if we don't get the energy and nutrients we need. Ask students what some of their favourite foods are and write them on the board. Discuss what type of foods they are and how they help our bodies (e.g. it gives us energy, helps us fight off sickness, protects our heart, etc.). Ask students how eating in the balanced diet makes a difference.

English

Descriptive writing - After doing some tasting and smelling of different fruits in science get the children to describe them with the help of these writing frames. Adjectives are key when describing the fruit so use these display cards to help them with their descriptions.

Poetry - Introduce the idea of acrostic poems and what they are. Get the children to think of words based around healthy food and then think of words they would use to describe them.

New vocabulary - Some children will only know a few fruits and vegetables so use these flash cards to introduce them to new fruits and vegetables and in turn expand their vocabulary.
